Truce Prospects Brighten In Korean Negotiations

Communists Ready To Send Only 150 U.S. Prisoners Home

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists today said they are ready to send home 600 disabled prisoners of war—a figure that includes only 150 Americans and other U. N. soldiers. The chief Allied negotiator asked for a recount, and added: "I have hopes we will get more."

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel told the Communists their figure was "incredibly small," and asked "that you have these figures reviewed." He said later, however, that "I have no reason to believe at the present time that they are not acting in good faith."

Staff Starts Work

The U. N. Command offered to return 5,800 sick and wounded Communists—5,100 North Koreans and 700 Chinese. This is 7 per cent of the 83,000 pro-Communist prisoners and 4 per cent of all prisoners held by the Allies. The Communist figure of 600 is 5 per cent of the 12,000 to 13,000 U. N. and Korean prisoners the Reds have said they hold. Both sides named lower-level staff officers to work out administrative details of the exchange. The U. N. Command appointed Col. Williard B. Carlock of Galveston, Tex.; Air Force Col. Douglas Kairns of Riverside, Calif.; and South Korean Col. Lee Soo Yung. The Communists named North Korean Col. Wang Ching.

The staff officers went into session immediately after the liaison groups adjourned for the day.

One Note Of Discord

Daniel asked the Communists for a complete revised text of the whole draft agreement on transfer of sick and wounded so the U. N. Command could consider any changes "in one package and arrive speedily to the items which are controversial." The Communists have agreed to the main points of Daniel's plan, and said they will submit their versions of the rest.

The Allied protest on the Communist offer was the stiffest statement yet made in the three-day-old conference. It was the first note of discord in the otherwise smooth negotiations which Tuesday resulted in agreement in principle to exchange disabled POWs.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho told Daniel, "We have

Quiz Continued By Senators On Shell Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett said today there was a "definitely unsatisfactory" performance on ammunition production for the Korean War and he "took it out of the Army's control."

"My patience was completely exhausted," he declared.

Lovett blamed the "Army as a whole."

Sen. Byrd (D-Va) asked him at a senate investigation: "who is responsible for this ammunition shortage. We want the name of the official responsible for the failure to let these contracts."

No Individual Blame

Lovett replied that he thought under the system and procedure set up in the Army, it was utterly impossible to identify an individual or a group of individuals as those personally responsible.

Then he added: "Assign it to the Army as a whole."

However, Lovett also told the committee:

"The Secretary of Defense is the boss of the department. You can delegate authority but not responsibility. That final responsibility is the Secretary of Defense, and that is me."

Lovett told investigating Senators that when he took office as deputy defense secretary in September, 1950, Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall ordered an investigation into the ammunition situation.

First Word In 1951

But he said the first "inkling" that he had of shortage in Korea was in September, 1951.

This was five months after Gen. James A. Van Fleet went to Korea in April, 1951. Van Fleet, retired commander of the Eighth Army, has testified there was a shortage the whole time he was in Korea.

Lovett said that in speaking of "unsatisfactory" performance on ammunition he had in mind ammunition for 155 mm howitzers, 105 mm howitzers, 60 and 81 mm mortars and 4.2 inch mortars.

Far East Peace Issues Shape Up At Panmunjom

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to make a permanent peace for war-wrecked Korea and perhaps negotiate with the Communists on other critical Far Eastern issues are beginning to shape up here as truce prospects brighten.

One idea receiving official consideration, it was understood today, is that an long-term peace arrangements should provide for a north-south dividing line at the narrow waist of the peninsula about 60 miles north of present battle lines.

Under provisions already worked out, an armistice would become effective along this present line. However, some authorities here believe this would not make a workable division of the coutnry over a long period.

Buffer Zone Favored

The battle line is generally already north of Parallel 38, which divided North and South Korea before the Red attack. The Communists presumably would object to any northward shift.

The belief is that the South Korean government would accept a border at the Korean waist since this would give it control over approximately 85 per cent of the country. Such an arrangement would reduce the North Korean position to a minimum, just short of extinction. It would, however, leave a buffer zone between South Korea and major Red Chinese and Soviet interests in Manchuria and Siberia. Hence there is some feeling that the Red governments of China and Russia—if not North Korea—might be willing to move the permanent peace line north. No one here has any idea what kind of compensation they might bargain for.

Troop Withdrawal Next

This and a host of other questions are becoming of considerable importance because of the Soviet peace offensive and the steps taken by the Reds toward agreeing on an acceptable truce in Korea.

Among the provisions of an armistice worked out prior to the

Taft Predicts Eisenhower Will Repeat In 1956

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) predicted today that President Eisenhower will run again in 1956 and be re-elected.

Persistent, although unverified, reports have circulated in Washington that Eisenhower wants only one term. He told a news conference Feb. 25 he had probably made as many facetious remarks on the subject as his friends could bear and wasn't ready for a serious declaration.

Pressure Builds Up

Taft, the Senate majority leader, said in an interview he never had heard any one-term suggestion from the President or his intimates. Taft said that in any event he firmly believes Eisenhower will be convinced he ought to seek a second term when the time comes.

"It will be inevitable that the pressure will build up on him from within the party," Taft said. "When the party has a man in the White House the pressure always builds up to keep him there.

"When the time comes, the President will be told that only by running again can he prevent a split in the party and make sure of its success at the polls."

Too Close To Dewey

Taft's comment came after he had agreed, evidently somewhat reluctantly, to the choice of former Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York as Republican national chairman—a selection expected to be ratified by the national committee here Friday.

It is an open secret among the Ohio senator's intimates that Taft would have preferred a chairman less closely identified than Hall is with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the 1944 and 1948 GOP presidential nominee.

Taft apparently based his acceptance on a belief that Eisenhower is going to continue to dominate party policy for the next eight years.

Adenauer Asks U.S. Help In Handling Red Zone Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was reported today seeking special American financial help in handling floods of refugees from Communist-ruled East Germany.

This problem, with other tough economic and trade issues, was up for discussion today with Secretary of State Dulles, Foreign Aid Director Stassen and other top American officials.

Housing Needed

Adenauer was reported hopeful of U. S. financial backing for building big housing projects in West Germany, mainly to help absorb refugees.

About 1,500 men, women and children daily are slipping through the Communist Iron Curtain into Western Berlin.

The conversations that opened on the Chancellor's arrival yesterday were reported to be moving smoothly.

Officials said Dulles and Adenauer talked over Russia's current line of apparent conciliation and agreed it reflected no basic change in the Soviet dream of world domination.

Russia Holds 300,000

The German Chancellor was quoted as saying the West could test Russia's intentions by renewing proposals for free elections throughout Germany. He also reportedly asked for support in pressing for the return of some 300,000 World War II West German prisoners believed still held by the Soviet Union.

Apart from the discussions with Adenauer, the U. S. was reported to have worked out a new approach to the problem of Western Eropean defense, based on a long pull for 20 to 30 years, rather than preparing for a "crisis year."

Planning originally was aimed largely at readiness to meet a Soviet threat at a time when it was considered most likely. A recent target date was 1954.

However, diplomatic officials said thinking had shifted in favor of a program, now accepted by the administration, which could be fitted into the U. S. economy on a long-time basis. It was argued such a military plan would be less subject to letdowns when "crisis years" passed.

Armed Services Fund To Be Cut

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is reported to have advised members of Congress to ignore "military lobbyists," because he intends to cut armed services spending to the lowest level at which he feels the nation will be safe.

A senator reported Eisenhower's advice after Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey agreed in testimony before a Senate committee yesterday that defense outlays would have to take a four billion dollar cut if the new budget were to be balanced.

Eisenhower was described by the senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, as being convinced that pressure is being exerted on Congress by military men to prevent slashes in the 46 billion dollar spending program outlined by former President Truman for the armed forces for the year beginning July 1.

The President has said he will make the final decision on the level of combat strength to be maintained

United States Fights Russian Maneuver On Disarmament In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States was reported ready today to fight a new Russian maneuver in the long-deadlocked United Nations battle over disarmament plans.

The General Assembly was due to consider Russian amendments to a proposed resolution continuing the work of the U. N. Disarmament Commission. The Soviets want to take out instructions for the commission to base its work on previously approved—but Russian-rejected — Western proposals for supervised, step-by-step arms reduction.

Chance For Propaganda

Some delegates viewed Vishinsky's amendments as a compromise offer because, though they threw the commission's deliberations wide open again, they did not specifically restate the Russians' own proposals for immediate one-third arms cuts and bans on atomic and germ weapons.

The Americans, however, feared Vishinksy's efforts to knock out the proposed endorsement of the commission's previous work, if successful, might be employed later by the Soviets as a propaganda point against the Western proposals.

The Americans said they would vote against the Russian amendments. It was believed most of their Western allies would do the same.

Approach Softened

Though some saw in the Soviet amendments at least a softening of the usual Communist approach to the long-deadlocked disarmament question, there seemed no suggestion at this time that the Russians in their astonishing new peace offensive were ready yet to accept Western proposals which would call for lifting the Iron Curtain to allow complete international control and inspection.

Vishinsky told newsmen, however, he would not repeat in the assembly at least the old Soviet demands that the Big Five reduce their conventional arms by one-third immediately and ban all atomic and germ weapons.

Big Auto Plants To Trim Wages

DETROIT (AP)—Ford, Chrysler and a host of other auto firms are expected to follow General Motors' lead soon and lop a penny an hour off the wages of their employes.

Within a couple weeks possibly a million or more auto workers will take the cut under cost-of-living wage contracts.

General Motors, biggest of the car producers, announced yesterday that it was knocking 1 cent off the wages of its 397,000 hourly rated employes. About 98,000 non-union salaried employes will be given a proportionate pay reduction.

The G. M. action was taken under its five-year contract with the CIO United Auto Workers, a pact that set the pattern in 1950 for virtually the entire industry.

The cut was based on the cost of living as of Jan. 15 as computed by the government's Bureau of Labor Statistics under the so-called "old style" index.

The International Harvester Company in Chicago also announced a 1-cent pay decrease based on the "old style" cost-of-living index. The decrease, to be effective Monday, covers 75,000 Harvester employes at 15 plants in Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee and Ohio.

State Senate Votes On Liberalization Of Prison Paroles

LANSING (AP) —A final vote was due in the Senate today on a bill liberalizing the "good time" allowance given Michigan prisoners.

The vote was scheduled after two amendments giving the State Parole Board complete control over the good time—time allowed off for good behavior—were defeated.

Senators avoided tangling with the even more controversial indeterminate sentence law, which would second-guess judges by enabling an automatic release after three times the minimum sentence was served.

The second bill was demoted to the foot of the calendar to be considered later.

The good time law, sponsored by Senator Harry F. Hittle (R-Lansing) would allow a more liberal policy of granting time off for good behavior in prison. Prison authorities would have the final say.

Opposition Senators put in one cripping amendment that declared any prisoner now serving time can not be released until the parole board also approves the sentence cut approved by corrections head.

In arguing for his proposal, Hittle said there now are more than 800 men in Michigan prisons serving more than their maximum sentences and cited one case of a parolee who was returned to prison because he married.

Russia Spends Big Money On Science

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravada said today the Soviet Union spent 47.2 billion rubles on science in the period of 1946-51. It called for further development of Soviet science and said new measures have been taken to expand scientific personnel.

There is no normal exchange between the ruble and the dollar. The Russians have given the ruble an arbitrary value of 25 cents.

BERLIN (AP) — Almost 9,000 refugees from Soviet-occupied East Germany poured into West Berlin during the first week of April, official quarters reported last night. Yesterday's total of 2,145 arrivals was double the average average daily influx.

Chicago Doctor Is Guinea Pig

CHICAGO (AP)—A young doctor who believes that man eventually must be the final test in medical developments was honored today for risking his life during two years as a human guinea pig.

In the course of numerous medical tests, Dr. Lloyd T. Koritz has been hung unconscious from a telephone pole, kept unconscious 11 straight hours and put on a 30-day ordeal of eating a pound of raw liver daily.

For his work in various experiments while a University of Illinois Medical School student, was chosen to receive the award from the Walter Reed Society, meeting in conjunction with the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. The Walter Reed Society honors individuals who have risked their lives in medical experiments.

"I guess it's necessary to prove to the world that research is not all just cutting up dogs, as many people seem to think," the young doctor told a reporter.

"New drugs may be excellent with animals, but eventually they must be tried on human beings," he said in explaining why he volunteered to be a human guinea pig when 24 years old.

Texas Officers Hunt Ears Of 100 Coyotes

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—North Texas peace officers were on the alert today for 100 pairs of coyotte ears.

The ears were stolen last week from Santa Rosa Ranch near Vernon.

Wilbarger County Sheriff Ed Luttrell said that whoever stole the ears probably would try to collect bounty on them.

Arms Cuts Put Up To President

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson's reported proposals to spend less on the expansion of munitions plants and to emphasize production of weapons, which looked like a sure-thing controversy, smoothed out today into scarcely a ripple.

Officials of the Office of Defense Mobilization ODM— which favors building a broad industrial "base" for swift mobilization, including standby plants and equipment—and other administration aides said privately:

1. President Eisenhower intends to make personally the final decisions on both mobilization policy and military spending. This rules out any civilian-versus-military contest of power.

2. ODM people favor some of Wilson's ideas, admit that some of ODM's original plans were over-ambitious, and profess to see no reason why Wilson's views cannot be reconciled with theirs.

They yield not an inch, however, in the position that adequate arms-plant capacity, ready to produce on short notice, is a "must" for national security and does not exist today. All parties are content, it was indicated, to let the President shape the military programs to suit the developing international situation as he sees it, and the country's strategic plans.

Republicans To Get Chance At 1,700 Postmaster Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) —After finding rough going for 20 years, Republicans now will get a crack at 1,700 postmasterships around the country. The list includes five in Michigan.

Two weeks ago the Eisenhower administration threw out the results of examination already held to fill more than 1,400 of the posts.

The action was announced as a move to "establish higher standards of eligibility." But political observers pointed out it also will give Republicans a chance at jobs which they had little hope of getting under Democratic administrations.

All of the nation's 40,000 postmasterships are under civil service. Persons already confirmed for posts cannot be touched by the new action. Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield and Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission said in a joint statement March 24 that the new tests will require a higher passing grade and will put some stress on business experience "or comparable training."

The civil service list of postmasterships open includes Cadillac, Iron Mountain, Port Huron, Saginaw and Sturgis in Michigan.

Jackson Prison Riot Leader Sentenced For Kidnaping Guard

JACKSON (AP)—Russell Jarboe, a 22-year-old ring leader in the 1952 riot at Southern Michigan Prison was sentenced yesterday to a seven to ten year prison term for kidnaping a guard during the costly riot.

Jarboe pleaded guilty to kidnaping a prison guard before Circuit Judge John Simpson. Judge Simpson directed that the sentence be served concurrently with Jarboe's present four to 14 year term for burglary and car theft.

Only John E. Crockard, James Breeze, and James Hudson, all charged with kidnaping prison guards during the riot, remained untried for their part in the riot.

Killer Of Five Is Mental Case

CANADIAGUA, N. Y. (AP)—Fred Eugene McManus, 18, who has admitted killing five persons and said he did it because of his love for a blonde bobby-soxer, was in a state mental institution today.

The youth was taken to Willard State Hospital at Ovid from the Ontario County Jail here yesterday. District Attorney Thomas Croucher said, "If he is insane, he won't come back here at all."

The young Marine has been charged with first-degree murder in the first of the five killings he confessed after a cross-country jaunt with Diane Marie Weggeland, 16, of Rochester.

The charge was placed in the death of William Allen Braverman, 19, a Hobart College student from Rochester who was slain March 27.

McManus has signed a statement saying that he killed Braverman after hitching a ride with him in the new red convertible which he and Diane used on their trip.

The couple was picked up near Dubuque, Ia., March 31, waived extradition and was returned to New York state. McManus also has confessed killing two persons in Illinois and two others in Minnesota.

Iron Mountain Firm Loses Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — A rival bidder said today the Air Force has given a 3½ million dollar airplane recondition job to the Aircraft Engineering and Maintenance Corp., Oakland, Calif.

This information was given a reporter by Mario Fontana, president of the Fontana School of Aeronautics, Inc., Iron Mountain, Mich., which also had sought the contract for the reconditioning of 68 Fairchild C82 cargo planes.

Fontana said Assistant Secretary of the Air Force Roger Lewis told him at a Pentagon conference that decision had been made to give the job to the Oakland company.

Lewis, Fontana said, told him this company has 400 workers "ready to go" on the job while Fontana would have to rehabiliate its plant and tool up for the work.

Fontana has leased part of a plant used by the Ford Motor Co., in World War II for the manufacture of gliders.

"We don't wholeheartedly agree but we have no other recourse," Fontana commented.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) accompanied Fontana to the Pentagon conference.

Fines Total $2950

NEW YORK (AP)—Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh imposed a $2,950 fine—or 118 days—on a woman for ignoring 59 parking summons in three years.

Weeping, Mrs. Lee Maggio, 29, a dress company partner, said she could not pay. Murtagh set her free in $1,000 bail because she has a small child and gave her until April 24 to raise the money or go to jail.

Gries Speaks At C-C Banquet

Walter Gries of Negaunee, Republican elected Monday to the Michigan State Board of Education, was principal speaker last night when about 100 Escanaba businessmen entertained a similar number of Delta County farmers in St. Joseph banquet hall at the annual Town and Country Banquet sponsored by Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Gries said when he comes to Escanaba "it is generally in banquet formation." Although his speech was full of anecdotes and jokes that kept his audience in a constant lather of laughter, and he proclaimed at the start that "if I say anything serious tonight it'll be unintentional," his talk nevertheless had a serious undertone.

He pegged his speech on a line he quoted from a poem, "the joys that free men know." He said his immigrant grandparents came here to seek those joys. "I have always been grateful for my grandparents having the good sense to come to the northern peninsula of Michigan so I could be born here," he said.

He told of the joy of his grandparents when they saw him graduate from an American high school, and said other immigrants found similar joys in America.

Gries celebrated the various national groups that emigrated to the Upper Peninsula—French, Scandinavian, Italian, Cornish—and told anecdotes about each group. He said he hopes to write a book about northern Michigan and its people.

Legislature On Right Track, Governor Says

LANSING (AP)—Governor Williams today complimented the Republican — dominated Legislature on its approach to state problems in the 1953 session and submitted a list of issues which he hoped would not be overlooked.

The governor said in a special message he had "noted with satisfaction that a definite policy appears to be taking shape to solve the state's deficit and tax problem."

Because of the overriding importance of this problem, the governor said, he has refrained from "burdening" the Legislature with messages on other subjects with the exception of prison improvements recommended by a citizens study committee.

"No one can justly allege at this point that any important and immediate issue is being denied consideration," Williams told the lawmakers.

But he recapitulated a long list of his recommendations to previous Legislatures, which, he said, this session should not forget. Among others, they included:

Legislation to stop the spread of animal diseases;

Modernization of the civil defense law;

Expansion of the state police and tighter control over driver licensing;

Revision of sex deviate laws and establishment of a central sex crime file with the state police;

Authority for local action to meet housing shortages;

A state minimum wage law, a state disability insurance law, increased unemployment and workmen's compensation and improved industrial safety laws;

A fair employment practices law;

Lowering the voting age to 18.

Plan Meeting On Fish Price

Delta County commercial fishermen have been invited to meet with the Menominee County Commercial Fishermen's Association at Cedar River Friday night to discuss fishing problems and fish prices, Wendell Beaucock, Menominee, president of the association, said today. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, Escanaba time.

Problems concerning smelt fishing will be discussed at this meeting and dip netters as well as commercial fishermen are invited to attend. It is hoped to fix the price of smelt at 1½c a pound during the run.

Beaucock said that the smelt run is expected to start next week and indicated that it was believed the run would last about 10 days to two weeks. The smelt being taken now are not yet ready to spawn, Beaucock said.

Plans for establishing a dehydrating plant at Menominee will be outlined at the meeting Friday night. It is planned to utilize facilities of the sugar beer refining company Menominee which could dehydrate about 1200 tons of smelt daily.

Manager Plan Is Rejected By Voters In Iron Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN — Iron Mountain voters emphatically turned thumbs down on all three local proposals in yesterday's spring election.

In a light vote, in which only one-third of the registered electors of Iron Mountain cast ballots, the proposals of fluoridation of the public water supply, authorizing the city council to buy, sell and give away property and the council-manager form of government were defeated by decisive margins.

The proposal on council-manager form of government was turned down by a 3-1 vote. The unofficial tabulation showed 1,925 against the council - manager plan and 605 "yes" votes. In a separate ballot, a part of the same proposal, electors voted against a revision of the city charter by 1,793 to 666.

Proposal No. 1, proposing fluoridation of the public water supply, was defeated by 1,713 to 890.

The proposal which would give the city council power to buy, sell or give away property was turned down by a vote at 1,509 to 937.

Jury Convicts Drunk Driver

Vote On Charter Study Indicates Lack Of Understanding On Issue

THE creation of a commission to study possible revision of Escanaba's city charter was approved by the voters in Monday's spring election but the narrow margin by which the issue passed indicates that the voters were not as familiar with this proposal as they should have been.

Perhaps this is not too surprising in view of the other issues in the elcetion campaign, the school bond proposals and the political contests for important state offices. These issues naturally compelled the voters' interest, apparently at the expense of the charter study commission issue.

Actually, the proposal was not inviting a mandate to change Escanaba's system of government. The proposal merely suggests that this is a propitious time to study the city's charter with the view in mind of ascertaining its deficiencies, if any. It also suggests that the virtues of charter provisions may also be emphasized in the study.

The charter commission created as a result of Monday's election merely is delegated the task to study how the city charter has worked in Escanaba over the yeras. The commission may, if it chooses, decide that everything is as it should be and that no revision is desired.

Or, it may suggest changes in the charter to facilitate efficiencies that are now restricted by charter provisions. In this case, the proposed changes must be presented to the people for adoption. The people will have their chance then to indicate whether or not they regard the proposed changes as desirable.

The comparatively close vote on the charter revision issue, 1592 to 1195, indicates that many persons may have thought that they were voting on the issue of a municipal court.

This, of course, is not true. The charter study commission may consider the advisability of creating the legal means of establishing a municipal court, or they may not. If they do propose a charter revision to permit the creation of a municipal court, the proposal must be submitted to the people for decision. In that event, the merits of the two sides will be fully explored for the benefit of the people.

The charter revision study commission will analyze all phases of the city charter.

It is apparent that the voters did not fully understand this situation because surely there can be nothing wrong in principle with the idea of appraising our governmental machinery and to determine how it is functioning.

Celler's Steps Are Flimsy

REP. Emanuel Celler, a New York Democrat, a man who feels deeply about a great many things and manages to express all these things publicly, is outraged over the American League's decision not to allow the St. Louis Browns to move to Baltimore this year.

"It shows a need for the government to move in now," says Celler, who two years ago led an inquiry into alleged monopolistic practices in organized baseball.

We wouldn't profess to know whether everything the big league potentates do is in full accord with the best notions of free enterprise. But it seems rather unlikely that baseball freedom would be promoted by having the government step in at this juncture. Or any other.

What would government do? Compel the American League to shift the Browns to Baltimore? And why is that a decision for government anyway?

In the Midwest, the Big Ten universities are currently engaged in reviewing their Rose Bowl pact with the Pacific Coast conference, which expires next January 1. Let's suppose the Big Ten votes against renewal. Will Celler suggest that this is another place for government action?

This posture on Celler's part comes close to the ridiculous. Even if the Browns' case was any of the government's business, it ought to be noted that the league decision didn't close the door on a later transfer. It simply indicated the conviction that the issue had come up too late for the 1953 season.

If sports fans may be allowed a couple of early spring hopes, they probably would wish that (1) Celler make no more 1953 appearances on the nation's sports pages, and (2) government confine itself to the long list of problems it is already busily not solving.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

"You said recently that the possessive of a monosyllabic proper name ending in s should be written 'Jones's letter,' 'Jones s office,' 'Jones' sign,' etc., but what about the pronunciation? In answering the telephone, should one say, 'This is Mr. Jones office,' or 'This is Mr. Joneses office'?"

Such, in effect was the question I received from a correspondent in San Bernardino, California, in whose office the subject had been debated.

Let me answer that by a personal example. By given name is Charles. Throughout my life there have been countless occasions for relatives and friends to use that name in the possessive. Charles's book, Charles's house, Charles's office, Charles' son, Charles' secretary, and so on, are the ways the name would appear if written. But the spoken name in the possessive is invariably pronounced Charleses—that is, in two syllables. If it were pronounced in one syllable—Charles—a listener would justifiably assume that the nominative was Charl.

Similarly with the surname Jones. The possessive should be pronounced Joneses (two syllables), whether the written form is Jone's or Jones'. If in one syllable, the nominative would appear to be Joan. Likewise Hughes's and Hughes', and Dix's and Dix', should be pronounced Hugheses and Dixes, or the nominative would appear to be Hugh and Dick.

Other Editorial Comments

ADDICTION TO CANDY CIGARETS
(Milwaukee Journal)

North Dakota legislators—strong men who prefer "snoose" (snuff) to what they consider other insidious uses of tobacco—have moved to protect children from the cigaret habit.

Starting in July, North Dakota kids will no longer be subjected to the dangers of candy cigarets. This, the legislators think, will remove the temptation for the children to switch from the sugared to the nicotined branch of the cigaret family. In four months, sale of candy cigarets will be illegal in North Dakota—and youngsters have only that time in which to break the habit.

North Dakota will show little imagination if it stops there. Stores, apparently, can still sell chocolate cigars. Bubble gum could conceivably to find comfort in "chawing" tobacco. Even the harmless looking soap bubble pipe may just be a trap leading to a lifetime of addiction to pipe tobacco.

Root beer is probably fatal, too. And candy kisses might produce a generation of Casanovas.

One wonders, though, whether North Dakota's lawmakers know what they're bucking up against. Are North Dakota children less persistent and less capable of managing parents than all other American children?

May we not look to the day when North Dakota fathers will be turned en masse into candy cigaret bootleggers egged on to smuggling the forbidden fags across the state's borders by the begging, whining, eternal nagging of their offspring?

The Doctor Says . . .

Health Can Reflect Conflicts Of Elderly Parents, Children

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Every physician is familiar with patients who have indigestion, headaches, or other ailments resulting from strains or conflicts with other people. The complaints are real enough, but are the result primarily of nervous and emotional factors rather than purely physical causes—psychosomatic medicine is the branch under which such conditions are now studied.

Among difficult relationships of human life are those which frequently exist between aging parents and their middle-aged children. With the remarkable extension of life which has occurred during this century, many more people are living longer, with the result that more and more elderly people are faced with the problem of getting along with their grown children and the other way around.

The problems in the relationship of grown people of different generations in the same family are complicated and are not easy to solve.

The reward, however, of a successful and happy relationship between elderly parents and grown children are considerable, and the penalty for failure to develop them is often reflected in the health and happiness of the members of both generations.

The responsibility for working out the living conditions and many other details usually rests principally with the younger generation; though elderly people, likewise, if their health and mental condition warrants, should take some responsibility in this direction.

Because this problem is so important, and because it cannot be discussed in the detail which it deserves in brief form, I was particularly delighted to find a book on this subject which can be wholeheartedly recommended, and which should aid a great many in the better solution of problems which they may have with their elderly parents and themselves.

CONSIDERS ALL PROBLEMS

This book (by Edith M. Stehn and Mabel Ross, M. D., "You and Your Aging Parents," published by A. A. Wyn, Inc., New York) considers in detail such problems as whether parents and their grown children should live together or apart, what happens when one parent is left alone by death of the other, how to view remarriage of a parent, and attitudes to take and things to do when illness comes to one of the older generation.

This book should prove of inestimatable value to those who carry the responsibility for aging parents. It may assist physicians not only in the care of elderly persons, but also in avoiding some of these so-called psychosomatic disorders referred to at the beginning of this column.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Irving Ives, New York Republican, and one of the few GOP senators who ran far ahead of Eisenhower in his state, is about to introduce legislation which some of his constituents won't like. However, Ives will be taking an important step for beter government.

Furthermore, Eisenhower will give him powerful support.

Ives will tackle the delicate problem of congressional salaries, will propose that they be increased, perhaps even doubled.

What the public may not realize is that while everyone else's salary has increased, while wages have been given periodic boosts, and while the cost of living has zoomed, the salaries of senators and congressmen have stood still.

An ambassador's salary has increased from $15,000 to an average of $22,000. The President's salary has gone up from $75,000 a year to $100,000. But congressmen's salaries have remained stationary.

This is due chiefly to timidity. No congressman likes to face a reelection fight after he has voted to give himself an increase. An opponent can murder him, partly because the public doesn't understand the problem. This columnist has repeatedly urged that congressional salaries be increased, and that simultaneously the Justice Department crack down hard on any Nixon funds, kickbacks, etc.

Senator Ives is now planning to introduce a bill increasing congressional salaries to $25,000. He is in a better position to do this than some, because unfortunately he plans to retire from Congress at the end of the present term, so he will get no benefit from the increase.

President Eisenhower will make a strong move backing him up. Ike may act even ahead of Ives, and urge that the members of Congress get paid more.

PENTAGON LABYRINTH

Henry J. Kaiser, auto and airplane manufacturer, was lunching at the Pentagon building with Roger Kyes, late of General Motors, now undersecrtary of defense.

After they had finished their lunch, Kyes excused himself, said he had an appointment with his colleague, undersecretary of the Navy Charles Thomas, in another part of the Pentagon. Simultaneously an aide came in, handed Kyes a little map showing the exact location of Mr Thomas's office in the mammoth building which houses the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Henry Kaiser stayed behind a few minutes to make a phone call, then went downstairs to catch a taxi. On the way he met Kyes, who apologized.

"I'm lost," confessed the undersecretary of defense. "I can't find the undersecretary of the Navy's office."

CAMPUS PROBES

When president of Columbia, General Eisenhower took a vigorous stand against campus probes by Congress.

Now in the White House, however, the President avoided any direct comment on the House investigations of colleges during a recent chat with a congressional group. Instead, he remarked that there could be no academic freedom "in the abstract"—in other words, it had to be real and thriving, not a matter of lip service.

Academic freedom, said the President, is the result of all our other freedoms and cannot exist separately and independently of the general freedoms guaranteed by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

He also said that the true test of any institution of learning was whether it moved in the direction of making good citizens.

When he became head of Columbia University, Ike recalled, he told officials there that he didn't want the job unless he had complete freedom to fire any Communists that might be on the faculty. He added that people should be willing to answer questions about their political beliefs before a congressional committee, or anywhere else.

"If they are not willing to answer that kind of question, I don't want them around," said Ike.

POLITICAL INDEPENDENT

President Eisenhower was reminded that there were more than two political parties represented in Congress when independent congressman Frazier Reams of Toledo, Ohio, sat next to him at a recent White House luncheon.

"How did you happen to become an independent?" asked the President.

"Because the two major political parties abdicated in my district and weren't serving the best interests of the people in electing congressmen," replied Reams.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Paquin entertained at a diner party Thursday evening at their home, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tolan, Mrs. Paquin's brother and sister-in-law, formerly of this city, who are now residing in Gary, Indiana.

Cooks—Mrs. Raymond Wickwire of Gaylord, the former Margaret Miller of Cooks, arrived here Monday to spend several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller, while her husband left for the army.

Garden—Edward Bureau suffered a second accident while working on the dock project at Escanaba Tuesday. His big toe was broken and crushed and the next toe smashed, when a neighboring workman dropped a heavy plank on his foot. In a former accident his leg was broken.

Lansing—Michigan, still legally dry today, became the first state to ratify repeal of the national prohibition law.

Escanaba—Robert Furlong, Escanaba district supervisor for the conservation department, yesterday announced the names of the fire wardens who will go on duty soon in the district.

Manistique—The hotel building at the William Rowe resort, Indian Lake, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Today's A-Bomb Spy Spurns Old Cloak And Dagger System

By DOUGLAS LARSEN and DOYLE KLINE
NEA Correspondents

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — (NEA)—The espionage methods first introduced by Fuchs, Greenglass and the Rosenbergs to this area—which contains the major elements of the nation's nuclear weapon development program—are now officially regarded as out of date.

According to security men, the new type agent doesn't have to do anything as undignified as scribble notes from secret documents, worm his way onto the payroll of an important atomic installation, or contact Moscow agents on a lonely bridge like Fuchs.

The agent now rents a house in Albuquerque or Santa Fe, does a lot of entertaining, welcomes the neighbors' kids.

Established as "respectable" the agent has only to wander into a few bars downtown and chat with the customers. People here are naturally friendly and everyone assumes you do atomic work of some kind.

Just about any Albuquerque or Santa Fe citizen will volunteer half-a-dozen or so instances of information leaks he has picked up.

For instance, a housewife offers the one about the 12 - year - old junior high school student who came into her house and told of an atomic experiment which "got out of hand" at Los Alamos. The child's father had just been transferred to Albuquerque.

"It wasn't one of the explosions they're having all the time," the child said. "It was a shot."

In parlance of the scientists here, a "shot" describes a nuclear blast. In this instance, the child continued, the blast stirred up some Santa Fe people 40 miles away.

"They phoned us to see if we were still there," the child said.

A security official said:

"Sure, this information looks harmless. But send that information to an enemy collecting agency where it can be matched with a mass of other fragments and it may provide the missing clue they need."

The existence of such a collection agency in the area was first revealed by Sen. Pat McCarran's (D. Nev.) Senate Internal Security subcommittee recently.

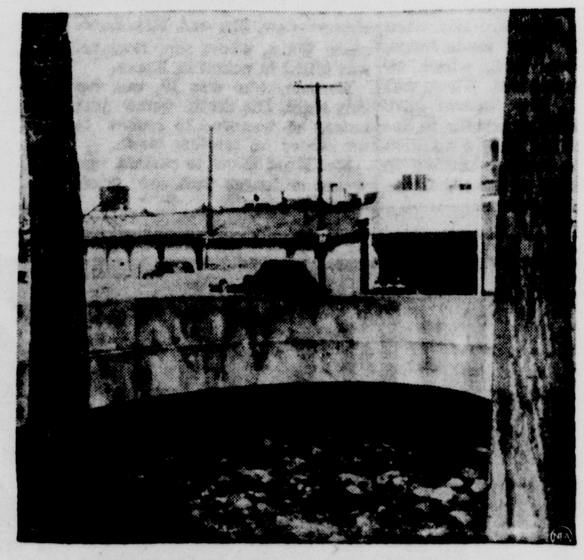

One of the witnesses in a secret hearing, FBI informer Harvey M. Matusow, says he identified the San Cristobal Valley Ranch, near Taos, and 60 miles from Los Alamos, as "catering primarily to members of the Communist Party" when he appeared before the group.

As part of the apparatus, Matusow says, "I was asked to find out what I could about our atomic installations at Los Alamos and the nearby Sandia Base."

He adds: "As far as the committee knows, the ranch is still running under the management of persons named in sworn testimony as Communists."

Residents claim that the village of Taos also is a hotbed of Red activity.

FBI files reveal another leak. A youthful research worker, newly arrived from the east, regaled his roommate with details of his work, a brand - new line of research. Fortunately for the U. S., the roommate was one of a network of paid security informants.

THIS BRIDGE IN SANTA FE was used by atom spies Fuchs and Gold as rendezvous to deliver information. New-style atom spies don't have to resort to such furtive methods.

The leak was plugged, but how many go undetected?

A simple employment-compensation case recently played to a packed courtroom. The defendant sued for injuries sustained in handling heavy tungsten-carbide rings while employed by the Sandia corporation. Sandia operates the government weapons laboratory.

On the morning of Nov. 28, 1952, witnesses described the rings in detail, despite frequent and frantic objections by the attorney for the corporation.

Anybody — including enemy agents — can obtain an offieial transcript by paying the court reporter 55 cents a page to transcribe her notes.

London Gets Moral Bath For Coronation

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Special Correspondent

LONDON —(NEA)— The word has gone around that Scotland Yard is out to clean up the "Merry Wives of Mayfair" before Coronation. They are the callgirls who operate out of Lady X's luxurious apartment.

They are, for the most part, beautiful, elegantly-dressed women — many of them well-educated and with an unerring knowledge of vintage champagnes.

They are all available for dates with tired businessmen or tourists at prices ranging from $50 to $150 a time.

Some of the mare married to businessmen, accept dates merely for "pin money." As the wife of a retired British colonel recently confided to one of her clients, "I only do this to pay my husband's surtax.

• • •

Lady X, herself, is the wife of a 10-karat British peer. She is also the madame of one of London's thirty-seven call-girl syndicates.

This week, Lady X and her sisters in business are not talking on telephones to strangers, and regular customers are required to give elaborate passwords and counter-signs.

In view of the impending Coronation, it is doubtful that there will be any sensational arrests, but insiders say that should Scotland Yard decide to tear the lid off London's sex-for-sale racket, it would make the New York Jelke vice trial look mild in comparison.

Some of the facts:

Each syndicate has headquarters in a luxury flat. The madame answers the phone, interviews new clients, books "orders," and takes the fees which vary from $15 to $150.

Each madame controls about 100 call-girls. The thirty-seven syndicates work closely together, swapping each other's girls and helping each other.

Meanwhile, as Scotland Yard moves in, a demand that London's side-street shop windows be swept clean of their call-girl advertisements was voiced in Parliament.

• • •

Lt. Col. Marcus Lipton, MP for Brixton, has asked the home secretary to ban "dubiously-worded" display cards appearing in the windows. Some of those to which the colonel objects:

"If you want relaxation and remedial treatment, phone (such-and-such number)."

"Young woman willing to act as escort. Communicate . . . "

"Model with own studio. If you want exclusive services . . . "

"At a time when we want to clean up London for the Coronation, these wretched things ought to go.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATMAN

SPRING FEVER—After everyone else has been ill with the flu and it is no longer fashionable to complain of diverse aches and pains, I came down with a reasonable facsimile of the 1918 epidemic that laid low millions of Americans. My personal epidemic lasted only a few days, but it was a very uncomfortable experience for the family.

Men, particularly husbands, are poor patients. When they take to their sick bed they do it with banners flying, accompanied by groans, demands for attention, and childish refusal to do what the doctor ordered.

Many a woman has been known to defy illness until she fell fainting into the kitchen sink. They are made of hardier material than the male of the species, who will recover from gaping battle wounds but will collapse with a slight case of the measles.

While fretting away the hours in my sick bed, alternately taking my temperature and trying to count my own pulse, I decided that what this world needs more than anything else is a male Florence Nightingale.

• • •

THE MALE NURSE—The usual nurse is a crisply starched beauty who has only a professional sympathy for male patients. She really cannot understand the pain and boredom that sick men suffer.

She is always trying to see the bright side and will have the temerity to tell a cross and whiskery man, "My! We do look better this morning, don't we?"

What a man needs at a time like that is another man to give the bed a couple of resounding bumps, roll him over roughly, and tell him that if he doesn't shave they'll put him in the airedale ward at the animal hospital.

If the male patient is really sick, of course, the male nurse should be more considerate. He could round up three or four other fellows and they could sit on his bed and play poker and tell stories.

• • •

WOMAN'S WORLD—Ever since Miss Nightingale invaded the Crimea and came out a full-fledged angel of mercy, women have taken over the field of nursing.

That they cleaned up the hospitals, wiped out dysentary, soothed the sick and dying, and learned (some of them) to wield a scalpel and perform delicate brain operations in no way removes the gap separating the female nurse from the male patient.

The sick room is a woman's world, always has been, and probably always will be. Doctors (mostly male) place a high value on the ministrations of the skilled nurse. The nurse has saved many a patient and doctors are generous in their recognition of the nurse's role in modern healing.

Nurses are so well trained, however, that a man patient oftens feels frustrated. Miss Nightingale, according to the old pictures, used to hold hands with the patients. And she wasn't taking their pulse, either.

• • •

HOME CARE—It will be noted that in the category of home care of the sick the women are still in the majority. I know of no man who enrolled in the Red Cross home nursing course, although there may have been one that was overlooked.

In these home nursing courses the women are taught how to make the patient as comfortable he would be in a hospital. They are taught how to change the sheets without rolling the patient out on the floor. This is a worthwhile accomplishment, but some sick husbands do not deserve such gentle treatment.

No, the best cure for a sick husband—receiving home care—is a determined routine of discomfort. Pamper him and he will complain to high heaven; leave him captive for awhile in his own twisted bed sheets and he will be grateful when finally released.

And unless his ailment is near-fatal he will, after a couple days of neglect, desert his sick bed go back to work where he can recuperate. Wives and nurses should ignore the complaints—they reveal there is nothing seriously wrong with the patient.

Carless auto drivers have made the innocent bystander a poor insurance risk on too many occasions.

After listening to family troubles on the TV all day, it's a pleasure to watch wrestlers break each other's bones in the evening.

The man who hunts trouble is pretty sure to find it, says a police judge. Not if it's in the wife's washing machine.

Having knocked out the plug hat, Judge Boles says he thinks President Ike would get a lot of male support if he'd give tall coats, hard-boiled shirts and wing collars the same treatment.

Average Payments To Aged Is $48 Per Month

(Note: This is the third in a series of articles on social security. Today's article is on programs for the needy).

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON—(CQ)—The federal government and state governments cooperate in four programs that aid the needy—the needy aged, dependent children, the blind, and the permanently and totally disabled.

In 1935, the Social Security Act authorized the federal government to grant funds to the states to pay part of the cost of aiding those in the first three groups. Congress added a similar program for the disabled in 1950.

"Need" is defined by the states. The federal government pays half the cost of administering the programs and part of the cost of payments to needy persons. Here's how these programs work, as summarized by Congressional Quarterly.

The Needy Aged—In the case of old age assistance, the federal government contributes four-fifths of the cost of the first $25 of the average payment to recipients. It pays half of the rest of the average payment up to $55. Any state paying an average of more than $55 a month in old age assistance pays 100 per cent of the amount in excess of that figure.

All 48 states, Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and the District of Columbia have programs of assistance for needy aged to which the federal government contributes. According to the Social Security Administration, in November of 1952 there were 2,635,593 recipients of old age assistance. The average monthly payment was $48.65.

Dependent Children —The District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and all states except Nevada have assistance programs for dependent children and needy blind to which the federal government contributes. Nevada has programs not under the Act for children and the blind.

In aid to dependent children, the federal government pays four-fifths of the first $15 of the average monthly payment and half the remainder up to: $30 a month for a parent or other relative caring for a child, $30 for the first child and $21 for each additional child aided in the same home.

In November of 1952 there were 565,535 families receiving assistance under the program of aid to dependent children. The average payment per family was $81.71 and the average per recipient was $23.39.

Needy Blind—In aid to the needy blind, the federal government provides four-fifths of the cost of the first $25 of the average payments to recipients and half the rest of the average up to $55 a month.

In November of 1952 there were 98,577 recipients under the program of assistance to the blind. The average monthly payment was $53.27.

Totally Disabled—The federal government provides the same amount of aid to the states for totally and permanently disabled persons as it does for the aged and blind. That is, four-fifths of the first $25 of the average monthly payment and one-half the average up to $55. There were 159,053 recipients of such aid in November, 1952. The average monthly payment was $48.29.

Administered by States

There are other general public assistance programs in some places, but they are not participated in by the federal government.

The states administer all public assistance programs for which the federal government provides funds. However, the federal law limits some of the eligibility conditions that may be imposed under an approved state plan.

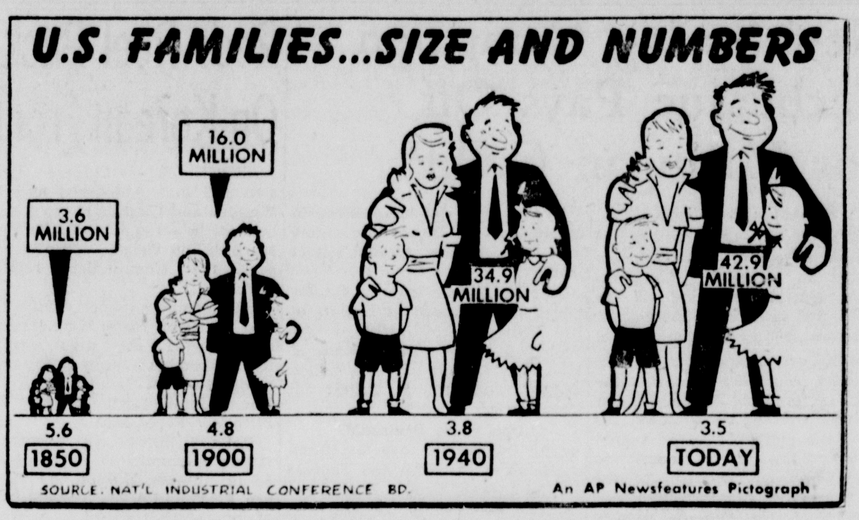

The federal government also gives aid to states for services for maternal and child health and child welfare. No money is provided to any mother or child under these programs, since the money is entirely used for providing services.

The Social Security Act authorizes Congress to appropriate $16.5 million for maternal and child health services. $15 million for services for crippled children, and $10 million for child welfare services. From the amounts appropriated by Congress, grants are made according to rules in the Act. They are administered by the Children's Bureau of the Social Security Administration.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—On his way to work recently Capt. William Cibulka of the police traffic division saw a 45-foot-long tractor-trailer parked and tying up traffic.

Speaker Calls Delta Heart Of Mink Business

There were 60 present last night at the Ford River Town Hall when the Upper Michigan Mink Breeders Association had as its speaker O. Brager-Larson. Brager-Larson, formerly of Norway, is now one of the foremost experts on the foreign production of mink fur.

Brager-Larson, a ranch representative for the Fur Exchange in New York, drew from his wide experience as a fur rancher, a former president of the Norwegian Fur Producers Association, and a fur production specialist for the Norwegian Government. He has traveled extensively throughout the world in the interest of mink fur production.

The subject of Brager-Larson's talk was "Breeding of Mink and the Production of Mink Pelts outside of the United States".

Heart Of Mink Business

In 1952 there were 3,500,000 mink pelts produced and sold for $60,000,000. The United States produced 2,140,000 pelts; the Scandinavian countries, 610,000; Canada, 520,000. Infant industries are being started in Australia, Argentina, Chile, Germany, Switzerland, France and Iceland.

Upper Michigan, Minnesota and Upper Wisconsin have the finest climate for mink producing, similar to Argentina, Chili and Scandinavia. "Today Delta County must be considered to be the heart of the mink breeding industry in Michigan," Brager-Larson stated. Here the ranchers represent the strongest group of ranchers in Michigan, and one of the strongest in the U. S.

The Scandinavian fur-ranching industry is farther advanced than that of this country insofar as rancher cooperation and regulation is concerned. The Scandinavian fur farm publications are far superior to similar U. S. publications.

Foreign Competition

Because the U. S. is today second to none in fine fur, U. S. fur is highest in demand, and must keep its leadership. Foreign fur producers have imported a far higher percentage of standard dark pelts, than mutation pelts. For example, 42% of the dark mink pelts on the U. S. market are produced by Scandinavia and Canada, while only 17% of mutation mink fur is produced by the same coutnries.

The U. S. fur market imported 1,000,000 pelts which includes the inferior Japanese mink, and exported only 300,000 in 1952. Foreign fur-producing countries are able to capitalize on their low production costs when selling in the American market. Figures taken from a Danish fur magazine, Pelsdyravle, revealed that the feed and labor cost of producing a mink in the Scandinavian countries is half of the U. S. cost.

Foreign countries are also able to capitalize on the desire of some American women to own "imported" furs. American-produced pelts are, however, in demand in the high-fashion areas of Europe.

Marketing Described

Brager-Larson explained that competition in the world-wide mink producing industry should be on a friendly basis. The negative way to approach the problem would be the establishment of an import quota. The positive way would be to attempt a world-wide stabilization of mink production. This was first tried in 1948 but failed because of Scandinavian refusal to cooperate.

Norwegian ranchers have their own auctioning company and control the marketing of pelts. No rancher sells fur on his ranch privately, but may sell through brokers licensed by the ranchers' association.

Brager-Larson concluded that the versatility of mink fur will assure its permanent popularity. The problem facing the fur industry is the prevention of the overproduction which was the ultimate down-fall of the fox industry.

There were several guests present: John Hasseler of Hasseler Mink Supply House, Duluth, Minn.; O. E. Opichka, Manager of 20th Century Handy Tool Co., Green Bay, Wis.; Leonard Ribnick of Ribnick and Sons of Minneapolis. Gerald Theuerkauf of Menominee, Mich. is a new member of the Association.

PVT. LOREN E. LIND, who was inducted into the U. S. Army February 9, is going through basic training with the 31st Intry Division in Camp Atterbury, Indiana. Pvt. Lind is the son of Mrs. Oscar Lind, 530 N. 16th St.

New Spring Campaign Technique Pays Off For Michigan G.O.P.

By JACK I. GREEN

DETROIT (AP)—Organization and enthusiasm paid off for Michigan's Republican party in Monday's spring election, enabling it to sweep the state even more than its hottest supporters could hope.

Politicians credited the victory partially to a slop-over of campaign fervor from the fall election in which President Eisenhower revived the state party and pulled in the young people whom the GOP had been beckoning to for for years—but not attracting.

But they also attributed victory to a somewhat new spring campaign technique used under the direction of the new state chairman, John Feikens of Detroit, the young Pre-Chicago Eisenhower manager.

Never had candidates reported such regional crowds for a spring campaign as the GOP ticket met as it stumped the state in a body. It abandoned individual speaking dates for the most part, or one-town rallies and sent the ticket out en masse for regional gatherings.

Ace Democrat Beaten

The payoff saw not only the whole state Republican ticket win, but the defeat of the Democrats' ace, Associated Justice Clark J. Adams of Pontiac, who had the political pull to holl up a 400,000-vote margin of victory last fall in the face of the Eisenhower sweep.

And it saw State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, the heaviest hit by Democratic attacks, storm to an even larger plurality of victory over former Mayor Eugene I. Van Antwerp of Detroit than he had achieved in his last campaign in 1949.

And it saw a newcomer to politics, Clair L. Taylor of Lansing, win the state superintendent of public instruction job with a greater plurality than the Republican he succeeds had achieved in his first election.

When the unofficial Associated Press-Newspaper tabulation ended with 4,209 of the state's 4,501 precincts counted, this was the picture of victory:

Former Gov. Harry F. Kelly of Detroit rolled up a vote of nearly 405,000 to Adams' 348,048, and had a 66,000-vote margin over the other GOP winner, Chief Justice John R. Dethmers of East Lansing. Dethmers polled 358,650. The runner-up Democrat, Talbot Smith of Ann Arbor polled 144,613.

Taylor got 459,120 votes to 282,480 for the Democratic nominee, Mack Monroe, Detroit school principal.

The Republican team of incumbents on the board of regents of the University of Michigan was reelected easily. Dr. Charles S. Kennedy, Detroit surgeon, polled 464,952, and Otto E. Eckert of Lansing, got 442,715.

One From Peninsula

The Democratic team of Hazen J. Hatch of Marshall and Thomas N. Robinson of Benton Harbor got 285,138 and 284,830, respectively.

Clark L. Brody of Lansing, veteran of 32 years on the state board of agriculture, won again with 452,223. His running mate to help operate Michigan State College, Arthur K. Rouse of Boyne City polled 439,499 in his first venture into state politics.

The Democratic candidates for that board, incumbent Dr. Connor D. Smith of Standish and Floyd Himes, Perrinton farmer, got 285,333 and 278,637, respectively.

Peppery Walter F. Gries of Negaunee, the only Upper Peninsula man on the state board of education with 448,565 votes, to 285,081 for Mrs. Freda C. Parmelee, Flint school teacher, his Democratic opponent.

Wilho Wilkkila Supervisor Of Rock River Township

CHATHAM — Wilho D. Wilkkila of Rumley was elected Rock River supervisor Monday, defeating Vern Dunquist of Eben by 10 votes. The totals were Wilkkila, 239; Dunquist, 229. Other township officers chosen are Felix Kemppainen, clerk; Clifford R. Johnson, treasurer; Waino L. Anttila, commissioner of highway; Elwyn Hawley, justice of the peace; John A. Maki and Onen Posio, trustees; Neil Ylitalo, board of review; John B. Leppanen and Hugo Sjostrand, constabl.se

The proposal to increase the limitations on the total amount of taxes against property in Alger County for a period of three years from 1953 through 1955 by 5 mills was defeated by a vote of 283 to 147.

Members of the election board were Mrs. Waino Maki, Mrs. John Kangas, Earl Latvala, Leonard Rukkila, Fred Lemin and Jack Ranta.

Reds Reel Back On Korean Front

SEOUL (AP) — Chinese Reds slammed into Allied defenses in Western and Central Korea today, but battle - toughened American Marines and Belgian infantrymen sent the Communists reeling back.

B26 bombers wiped out 130 Red trucks on North Korean highways during the night, while fighter-bombers blasted three rail bridges and a radio station at Haeju, in Western Korea, the Fifth Air Force said.

Chinese Reds in company strength—about 175 men—stormed up Bunker Hill on the Western Front but were blocked by a Marine combat patrol.

The attack carried some Communists into Allied lines but sharp - shooting Leathernecks stopped the Reds cold in 11 minutes of bitter, close-quarter fighting, the Eighth Army reported.

Far East Peace Hopes Brighter In Korea Dickers

deadlock over prisoner of war repatriation was one stating that the military negotiators should recommend to the countries concerned a "political conference" to settle "the questions of the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Korea, the peaceful settlement of the Korean question, etc."

President Eisenhower said in a talk yesterday that American troops would have to remain in the region of Korea for a long time. This could include Japan, however, and would not necessarily mean indefinite manning of a truce line.

Negotiation on withdrawal of United Nations and Chinese forces from Korea will unquestionably be one of the problems of the political conference.

Conference Broadens

What authorities here are untain about is the implication of that "etc." Under this heading the Reds may seek to bring up a series if issues with which they would hope to confuse and divide the Allies. And the Eisenhower administration, hoping to get peace throughout the Far East rather than in Korea alone, may feel it has no alternative other than to broaden the conference.

A conference restricted to Korea, for example, could not be expected to embrace efforts by the U. S. and its allies to end the war in Indochina and get the Reds to call off their guerrillas in Malaya.

On the other hand, a conference widened to include such matters would also be open to questions the Communists presumably would like to raise, among them the status of Red China.

MEET HALF WAY

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. General Assembly today adopted a Western plan for disarmament talks despite a strong appeal by chief Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky to modify it in the interests of East-West Harmony.

The vote was 52 to 5 (Soviet bloc) with three abstentions.

The assembly agreed, however, to one of Vishinsky's suggestions. It adopted, without a vote, his appeal that it drop commendation of the work the disarmament commission has done so far.

The Soviet delegate also proposed that the West agree, in order to "meet the Soviet Union half way" in making concessions, that the assembly drop references to the original resolution which set up the disarmament commission last year.

This was turned down 10 to favor 33 against and 13 abstentions.

U. S. delegate Ernest A. Gross and Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb argued that eliminating references to that resolution could give the impression the West was abandoning its insistence on international control of atomic energy and a balanced reduction of armed forces. Both factors are mentioned in it as directives to the commission.

Communists Ready To Send Only 150 U. S. POWs Home

offered the figures of sick and injured prisoners of war only after we have checked the matter in detail. Accordingly, I cannot find any reason why the figures are incredibly small."

Thousands More Captured

Daniel told newsmen the figure is "controversial."

"It depends on what category you put them in," he said. "In other words, how sick is a man?"

Of the 600 ailing prisoners the Communists offered to return, 450 would be South Koreans. The rest would be Americans, British, French, or other U. N. soldiers.

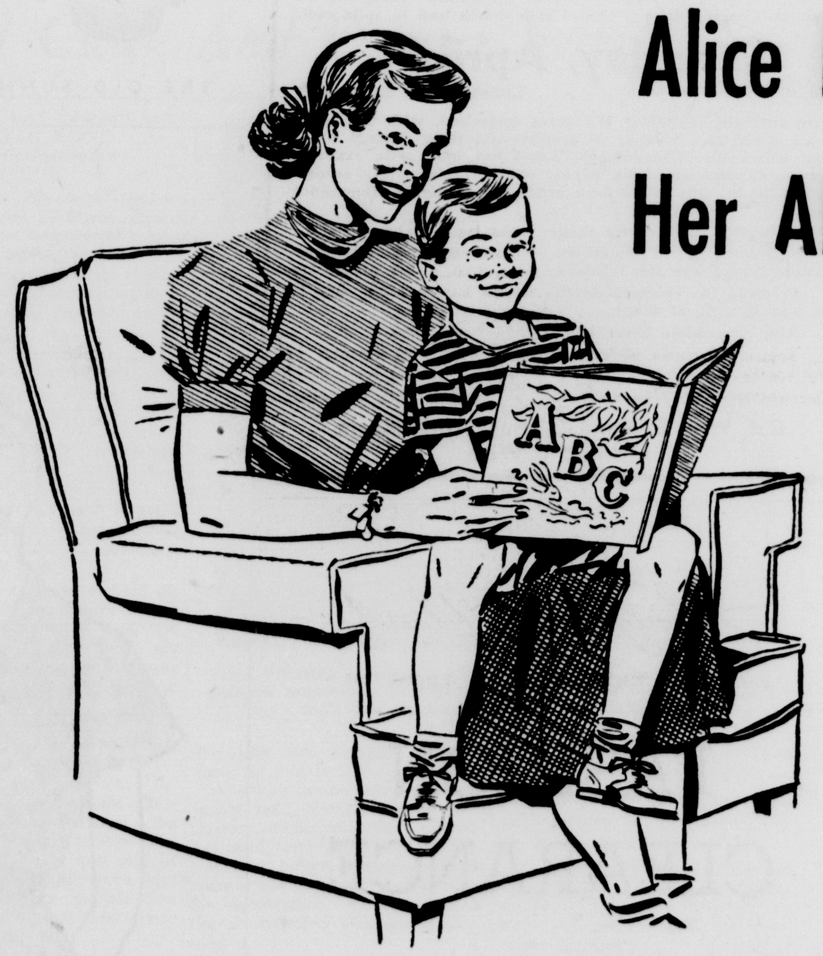

U. N. sources said possible reasons for the relatively few prisoners the Reds will return include:

1. The Communists are not as liberal in defining sick and wounded prisoners—a reason suggested by Daniel.

2. The Reds may claim some of the Allied troops they hold have embraced communism and decline repatriation.

3. A final, and more dismaying explanation, may be found in the Reds' policy of "liberating" captured soldiers at the front. The Communists have captured many more U. N. troops than they admit. Some Allied estimates place the total at 65,000.

Explosion High At Yucca Flat

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The folks hereabouts are wondering what's next in the nation's nuclear bag of tricks.

And they're still talking about Monday's explosion — the highest yet. The device, dropped from a plane, was detonated more than 5,000 feet above the Yucca Flat on the Nevada Proving Grounds.

It was powerful enough to give Las Vegas a sharp, noisy crack and break a big window in a downtown market, 75 miles from blast point. It was so high that it didn't stir up the desert dust.

The stemless atomic cloud rose within minutes to 40,000 or 50,000 feet and was whisked away in a southeasterly direction of high-altitude winds of at least 100 miles an hour. Civilian air lanes above 24,000 feet were closed for six hours because of possible radioactivity danger, but below that level flying was unrestricted after the blast.

PUERTO RICO REALLY BUILDS 'EM—This is an unusual aerial view of the nearly completed Llorens Torres housing project near San Juan, P. R., called the most elaborate anywhere under the U. S. flag. There will be 2600 apartments on about 85 acres of land, which will provide living quarters for about 10,000 people. The project cost some $12 billion dollars.

Congressional Quiz

By Congressional Quarterly

1. Q—How can witnesses before Congressional Committees get away with refusing to answer questions because "it might tend to incriminate" them?

A—The refusal of some witnesses to answer is based on the Fifth Constitutional Amendment which says, "No person shall . . . be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself." The courts through the years have interpreted this to include out-of-court testimony which might tend to incriminate a witness if he is later brought to trial.

2. Q—Has Congress taken any significant action to show it means business in its economy efforts?

A—The new session's first floor action on a "money bill" produced sharp cuts. The House Feb. 19 passed and sent to the Senate the Second Supplemental Appropriations for Fiscal 1953 after chopping about 60 per cent off the amount requested by ex-President Truman in his final budget message. The measure as passed by the House provided for $925.2 million for fiscal 1953 instead of the $2.3 billion requested.

8. Q—What are the prospects this year for expanding the social security program, listed by President Eisenhower and Congressional leaders as a legislative must?

A—The House Ways and Means Committee Feb. 20 apparently stymied chances of brodening the program this year when it named a subcommittee to study the whole social security setup. In the opinion of some Members, this step bars action on the program this year.

4. Q—I've heard that a lot of New Zealand beef was shipped into this country to be sold at below market prices. Did this meat have to meet our sanitation standards?

A—Some 59.5 million pounds of frozen beef was shipped here. U. S. government inspectors required two ships to be "reconditioned" but all passed the federal inspection standards prior to entry and none of the meat was ruled unfit for sale.

5. Q—Has there been any investigation to determine if U. S. packers are using the New Zealand beef to crack the price of U. S.-produced beef?

A—The Livestock Subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee held hearings and said the amount of meat was too small to influence the national picture. Average weekly beef consuption in the U. S. is reported to be 400 million pounds. Rep. Allan Oakley Hunter (R Calif.) sent this information on the beef question to his constituents recently.

S. P. RECORD

LONDON (AP)—Britain's exports of office equipment broke all records in 1952. Shipments exceeded $39,200,000, more than $2,800,000 higher than in 1951. Sales to the United States and Canada brought in nearly $5,600,000.

Weeks Family Gets An Out-Going Housekeeper

By PATTI SIMMONS

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Living dangerously would hardly be the way Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Sinclair Weeks would label their new life in the nation's capital. Still, it's easy to see how some foreign governments might get this idea.

There are places today where the incoming powers would think twice before sitting down to a meal dished up by a trusted chef of the ousted regime. Happily, the U.S.A. is not one of them.

After his appointment to the cabinet was made known, Weeks bumped into Charles E. Sawyer, outgoing Secretary. Sawyer, relates Mrs. Weeks, promptly offered the Weeks his capital apartment and put in a good word for Mrs. Sawyer's housekeeper. The wives thought it was a fine idea too, so the Democrat-Republican deal was on.

* * *

April is sugaring time on the Weeks' Cat Bow Farm in New Hampshire. So it's a good guess capital friends will soon be adding New England maple syrup to their breakfast table, courtesy of Secretary Weeks.

His blue - eyed, Tennessee-born spouse is ready to don her farm duds the minute the sugaring begins. This year, because of Washington business, sugaring for the couple will most likely be limited to a week end.

It's on this same farm, by the way, that the Secretary exercises his culinary capabilities—his wife proudly vouching for his lobster and clam specialties.

* * *

The Weeks' country-living also includes raising cattle and tending gardens, both flower and vegetable. Right willing to take credit for her accomplishments with the hoe, the new Washington wife is modest at mention of her artistic brush-wielding.

MRS. SINCLAIR WEEKS: She left her paintings back home.

Back when the children were growing up she pitched in to help the Junior League Children's Theater, doing everything from dabbing grease paint on self one day, to scenery the next. The latter talent just popped out after several years' art training in pastels and oils.

"No, I don't have any of them here." None of her paintings are good enough for that, she insists. "In fact, some of them are rather outrageous."

In official Washington there isn't much time for other group activity, but during Lent Mrs. Weeks set aside time for a once-a-week Bible class at historic St. John's Episcopal Church, just across from the White House.

Prices Unchanged With No Controls

NEW YORK (AP) — The end of price controls has brought more "ups" and "downs," but has left unchanged many items in the average American's budget.

That's the conclusion reached in an Associated Press 23-city survey on the effects of decontrol on the cost of living.

The survey shows these increases: cigarettes up 1 or 2 cents a pack, and coffee up 2 to 5 cents a pound at all points; gasoline up in eight cities; and bread up in six cities.

Meat Goes Down

According to the check, there have been no significant price changes in clothing, home fuels, restaurant meals or butter since the last controls were removed March 17.

The big item moving downward has been meat; some housewives interviewed say the drop in the price of meat has balanced the hike in coffee and cigarettes, leaving their grocery bill about where it was before decontrol.

Increases in gasoline range from three-tenths of a cent in Cleveland and Columbus, O., to about 3 cents in Seattle and San Francisco. Gasoline is up 2 cents in Los Angeles, 1½ cents in St. Louis, and one-half cent in Boston.

The price of a loaf of bread has been hiked one-half cent in Boston, and 1 cent in St. Louis, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Seattle and Pittsburgh.

Demand Tells Story

Other items which now cost more than in the control period: such building materials as cement, brick, gypsum products, wall board and plumbing supplies; copper-clad stainless steel cooking utensils; lamps and light bulbs; steel drums and pails; office machinery, and some rugs and linoleum.

Increases are predicted for bed sheets in the next few weeks; for men's suits next fall; and for basic steel in the near future.

One of the big price cuts since decontrol came when Chrysler slashed its prices by an average of $100 per car. Other auto makers did not follow.

There are suggestions that some of the rises which came quickly after the death of controls will not last. The National Association of Purchasing Agents puts it this way:

"Much of the new price posting may be market testing and will stand or fall by the pressures of supply and demand."

In the words of an Indianapolis department store executive, "The day price controls ended was just another day. Only a few scattered items have been affected, because the market is very competitive."

The AP survey also brought forth comments and sidelights:

A Minneapolis housewife, Mrs. C. L. Rimarcik, says:

"Some things have gone down, especially beef and cotton household goods, since controls went off. It looks to me like prices are getting back to where they were before the Korean War."

Grocery Bill Higher

Reports a woman in Washington, D. C.:

"I've heard all this talk about meat being cheaper and so on, but in the past months my grocery bill has run $2 a week higher."

Several housewives interviewed in St. Louis, Boston and Los Angeles have noticed no substantial difference in prices.

"A family which has been doing without high - priced items goes back to buying them after a slight price drop," says a Boston grocery chain spokeman. "But they are still exhausting their budget."

According to the report from Boston, housewives were not the only ones concerned with the boost in the price of coffee. After the hike went into effect, a Boston cafeterie reduced tea from 10 to 5 cents to discourage coffee sales. For the same reason, a Springfield, Mass., restaurant recently offered free tea to its patrons.

Good buys at the meat counter were reported from Dallas and New Haven. Meat prices in Dallas are lower than at any times in 10 years, with the exception of bacon. Round steak is selling at 59 cents a pound.

Dollar Buys More

Grocery officials interviewed in various cities predict that prices will remain stable for some time.

"Right now the wage dollar buys more food than at any time in my memory and I've been in the business over 20 years," said Earl Huffing, vice president of the Indiana Retail Grocers and Meat Dealers Association.

In Cincinnati, Sam Becker, a clothing manufacturer who also operates two retail stores, sums up the picture in his field. "Prices are as low as they can be," he declares. "The retailer is making just enough to make a living and stay in business."

Cities covered in the AP price check included Boston; New Haven, Conn.; Albany, N. Y.; Newark, N. J.; Atlanta; Charlotte, N. C.; New Orleans; Philadelphia; Pittsburgh; Chicago; Columbus, O. Indianapolis; Baltimore; Washington; Dallas; Kansas City; Seattle; Minneapolis; Los Angeles; San Francisco; St. Louis; Cincinnati and Cleveland.

DOBBINS' COMEBACK — Milk rout horses have made a comeback in Marion, Ill., and trucks are being replaced by horses like "Ike," shown here with milkman Roy Edmondson. Horses are "cheaper," according to Edmondson, and they behave better in traffic than most drivers.

Bulls Receive Blame For Communal Riot

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's holy bulls received the blame for a communal riot in Delhi in which 21 persons including 12 policemen were injured and scores arrested.

Replying to questions in the national parliament, Home Minister Kailas N. Katji said the Hindu extremist Jan Sangh and Hindu Mahasabha organizations were holding a mass meeting when stray bulls suddenly charged into the crowd.

Members of the organization mistook the resultant disorder for a police charge with lathis (staves,) the minister said, and commenced a bombardment of stones which necessitated police action to break up the meeting.

Meanwhile the bulls, which wander unattended through Delhi's streets, went peacefully on their way.

At their weekly luncheon meeting the Cleveland Spanish Ladies' Group lift up cups of hot tea, instead of usual coffee.

Coffee Gets Roasting, As Hotels Serve Tea

Declaring war on the rapidly rising price of coffee, three leading Cleveland, Ohio, hotels put on a modern "Boston Tea Party," only this time it was coffee that was "thrown overboard." The Hollenden, Allerton and Fenway Hall hotels announced they will serve tea free to guests in a drive to discourage coffee drinking, as a protest against a "price increase engineered by Brazilian coffee interests." The hotels said they will continue to serve coffee at existing prices to guests who demand it, but they hoped other restaurants would join their anticoffee campaign. These pictures show the "Tea Party" in operation at the Allerton, which reported coffee consumption down to one third of normal.

Logistics --- Life Lines To Military Victory---

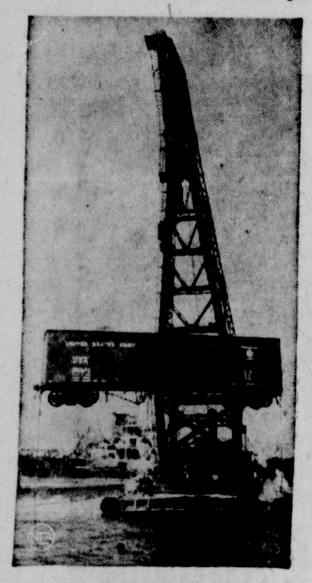

It takes more than a man with a gun to fight a war. Someone has to clothe him, feed him, shelter him, give him medical care and supply him with weapons and ammunition. That's "logistics"—the four-dollar word that covers all the above and more. Although the principal sources of supply are thousands of miles away, war equipment reaches our combat units in Korea through cooperative efforts of the transportation units of the Army, Navy and Air Force. The Navy's Military Transportation Service has been responsible for shipping over 90 per cent of the military cargoes needed for combat consumption. This is accomplished through a global network of transports and auxiliary ships. Once the materiel is in the combat area, the goods are moved to critical sectors by trucks, helicopters and parachutes. Photos below show a few of the varied activities of the vital supply services.

Arms and equipment accompany an artillery unit as it rolls along over winding, rutted roads toward its combat position somewhere on a snow-covered Korean mountain.

U. S.-made boxcar will carry supplies from port to front.

Berlin, City Of Strippers And Spies

By FRED SPARKS

BERLIN —(NEA)— Noted in Berlin, where you can take a subway through the Iron Curtain:

A husky boy, who fled East Germany, says: "Why did I come over? I heard I could join the American Army." . . . A U. S. Military Policeman leans out of his jeep, tells a GI who has been kissing a fraulein under a street lamp: "Knock that off! It doesn't look dignified on the main drag. Go in the park."

A ram-rod stiff, Prussian-style citizen has a black patch over one eye, a monocle over the other . . Tacked on a post office bulletin board: a snapshot of a blonde youngster in a Wehrmacht uniform with this note: "To those who were in Russian captivity—have you seen this boy, my son? Missing since 1942. Please write his mother . . ."

Cop walks lonesome beat with a vicious - looking police dog, trained to knock down and pin anybody on a "Sic 'em!" order . .

Satellite State Ticker: If you have a relative in a Communist chained country DON'T send him a new suit . . . sure he needs clothes, but ship one well soiled and sturdy. He won't wear a fresh, flashy U. S. cut. Party punks would finger him as "reactionary."

* * *

Berlin is a town that has (for its size) the world's greatest number of:

Suicides, thanks to the Russian strangle hold, continued crises, unemployment and the predicted bleaker tomorrow.

Naughty night clubs, where strippers peel like bananas in daring dances that would make a Boston censor beg for a straitjacket.

Matrimonial agencies; with women in the vast majority, due to World War II, any normal Herr is a candidate for a well-wadded widow, minus agency fees. (Lonesome ladies offer shelter to attractive guys fleeing the Red Reich.)

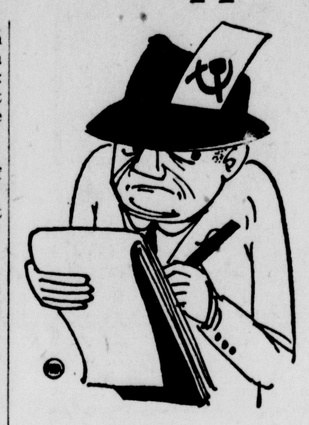

* * *

Cold lobster and cold war or Memoirs of a Diplomatic Cocktail Party:

When Marshal Chuikov, Soviet supervisor of East Germany, enters all the Kremlin kids clap-clap-clap. He claps back, Russian style, which means: "I like you, too."

Allied diplomats nod frigidly to the Soviet Sphere Set, and they charm each other with conversational classics as: "Berlin has been frightfully foggy, hasn't it?"

(I ask a Russian general: "What do you think about the Korean War?" He replies: "Have you tried the cheese?")

After some such polite prattle the fashionable, perfumed representatives of two worlds join paunches at a bloated buffet offering mountains of caviar, pate, turkey, anchovies . . . while outside the style for half of hungry Berlin is skin worn fashionably tight to the ribs.

* * *

Warning! Americans must carefully "overlook" Red China's agents, even though the Peking Pals gas with our British chums. At neutral soirees both Chinese governments are sometimes present, recalling the unhappy bigamist who met his two wives at the same dinner party.

Four things I like about Berlin:

1. How the clerk carefully scissors an opening in the pack of cigarettes you buy.

2. How many West Germans publicly defy Moscow. It takes crates of courage, for Berlin can be swamped just like you shift gears, and local party spies keep a bulging black book.

3. How storekeepers operate Grade - A shops on the ground floors of bombed-out buildings.

4. How hotel maids manicure your room three times daily; morning, after lunch, after dinner.

* * *

Four things I hate about Berlin:

1. How little interest natives have in the Korean War.

2. How some of the cruelest Communists fall from favor, skip to our sanctuary, and expect VIP treatment.

3. How many sergeants are too fat—they shimmy, wallow, shake. Even though they're pen pushers they shouldn't make the U. S. uniform look like an Abbott & Costello skit—not in vital Berlin.

4. How many Americans on diplomatic duty, although here for years, can't speak enough German to order soup. (Some good will!)

Rich Veterans Use Gyp On VA

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Louisville Times said that wealthy war veterans are taking advantage of inadequate laws to get free treatment at Veterans Administration hospitals.

All they need to do, the Times said in a copyrighted article, is to state they are unable to pay. The law will not permit an investigation of their ability to pay.

Abuses of the law's loopholes have been pinpointed by the U. S. comptroller general, Lindsey Warren, in a report to the House Armed Services Committee, according to the paper.

It said the report cited examples, included in a cross-section summary of the financial status of 336 veterans getting free care at government expense for ailments, in no way related to war service.

More than half of the 336, the report was quoted, have incomes of more than $5,000 a year and at least one is worth between $500,000 and one million dollars.

Others were shown to have assets ranging from $20,000 to $500,000 in addition to incomes of up to $50,000 a year.

The comptroller's investigators, the Times said, found that in 46 veterans hospitals two-thirds of all beds were occupied by patients with nonservice connected disabilities. A large portion, it was noted, were tubercular and mental patients and chronically ill veterans.

Sullivans Celebrate

NEW YORK (AP)—There were 22 Sullivans and O'Sullivans at the airport.

There were 40 other Sullivans and O'Sullivans to see them off.

Where are the 22 going?

Ireland—to help a few thousand other Sullivans and O'Sullivans celebrate "An Tostal" (Irish at home) festivities.

New Type Heater Is Designed In England

LONDON (AP)—A British company has resigned a new form of space heater to offset the shortage of electric power generating plants.

Because everybody needs electric power at certain peak periods and then most consumers switch off at around the same time, British power stations have surplus energy for some parts of the 24-hour-period and at other times cannot produce enough current to meet demand.

The new General Electric Co. heater aims at overcoming this difficulty—by storing heat for long periods in a block of concrete. Consumers switch their radiators on during the night—when there is plenty of spare current—and for the next eight hours an electric element pours its heat into a block of concrete.

Next morning the radiator is switched off, but the hot concrete continues to warm a large room for the rest of the day. During the charging period, radiators emit enough heat to provide a comfortable temperature for the start of the day.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Do-It-Yourself Fad Messing Up Trade

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The do-it-yourself fad sweeping the nation has its international counterpart. Do-it-yourself nations are messing up the old global trade patterns.

Just as the homeowner turns handyman over the weekend to become independent of costly services or to make things he cannot afford to buy, so are many nations including our own in some fields—striving to do things for themselves.

Export Markets Shrivel

The urge to be self sufficient has increased sharply since the last war. Nations seek to be free of the danger of having goods and services cut off by war or by whims of other countries. By doing it themselves they give the jobs and the profits to their own people, and supposedly they can give their own people cheaper goods.

American manufacturers and farmers have seen many former export markets shrivel in recent years.

Time was when British textile mills worked five days a week to help clothe other peoples of the globe, and the sixth day to clothe Englishmen.

Now many of Britain's former customers are self sufficient.

Europe has been building oil refineries at a great rate since the war. It still has to import crude oil, but is much less dependent upon other lands for her gasoline and other oil products.

Rubber Planters Squawk

The United States before the war got its rubber from the Far East. War forced it to build synthetic rubber plants and to experiment with raising rubber-yielding plants. Reactivated after the Korean outbreak the synthetic plants are now so productive they hold down the price of Far East natural rubber—and cause loud squawks from the British and Dutch rubber planters.

The do-it-yourself drive operates at the natural resource level as well as in manufacturing goods.

These outcroppings of national spirit also mess up would trade in other ways. Often anti-foreign sentiment has been allied with the self sufficiency drive. American exporters say they've lost markets to this, as well as because their goods aren't safe in transit in some lands where authority is weak and banditry high.

Press To Get Quick Service On Names Of Freed War Prisoners

TOKYO (AP)—The Far East Command has reported these tentative plans for handling the names of Americans released at Panmunjom when the proposed transfer of Korean War prisoners start.

A soldier or officer will meet each man as he arrives and obtain his name, rank, serial number, condition and home address. This information will be relayed by telephone to Munsan and by teletype to Tokyo, where it will be released to all news media.

Best estimate is that one to two hours will elapse between a prisoner's arrival in Panmunjom and the release of his name in Tokyo.

The Army says it does not plan to notify released personnel's relative before release of his name in Tokyo.

Ike's Double Lives In White Plains

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP)—Most of us have a double somewhere in the world, it's said, but few of us know it. Harry Strong, now residing in White Plains, knows who and where his double is.

The other day a shoeshine urchin in New York offered a free shoeshine to "Mister Ike." When Strong said he wasn't the new President the offer was repeated, "because you look so much like him." The shoeshine incident was only the latest in a series that has been going on ever since Dwight D. Eisenhower came into prominence.

Dark Day Recalled; Bataan Fell April 9

MANILA (AP)—As hopes rise for peace in Korea, Americans and Philipinos remember a dark day from another war — the fall of Bataan, 11 years ago today.

On April 9, 1942, the scarred peninsula at the mouth of Manila Bay fell to the Japanese. More U. S. soldiers walked to prison in the tragic death march than have been seized in the entire Korean War. The Japanese captured 35,000 American and Philippine troops, including 5,000 U. S. Marines.

Now the jungle is reclaiming the battlefield. Wild grass and plants sway where Gen. Jonathan Wainwright stood in a heroic effort to stem the Japanese invaders.

Bataan veterans will stage a big parade in Manila today, which President Elpidio Quirino proclaimed "Bataan Day."

Plymouth's new HY-DRIVE is available now for the 1953 Plymouth of your choice—at the lowest cost of any no-shift unit in the lowest-priced field!

HY-DRIVE is easy to use! Start the engine with the lever in neutral. Simply move the lever into high, and you're in HY-DRIVE! In traffic, starting or stopping, cross-town or cross-country, HY-DRIVE lets you drive without shifting—just brake or accelerate!

HY-DRIVE starts smooth, stays smooth! From standstill to cruising, there's never a lurch or jerk as your speed increases; no lagging engine action. When your toe says "go," you're off and away with HY-DRIVE'S fast, powerful response!

HY-DRIVE takes to the hills! No need for a long running start. Just feed more gas; HY-DRIVE instantly provides the extra power your car needs to take steep grades without slowing down. HY-DRIVE also gives you braking action coming down a hill.

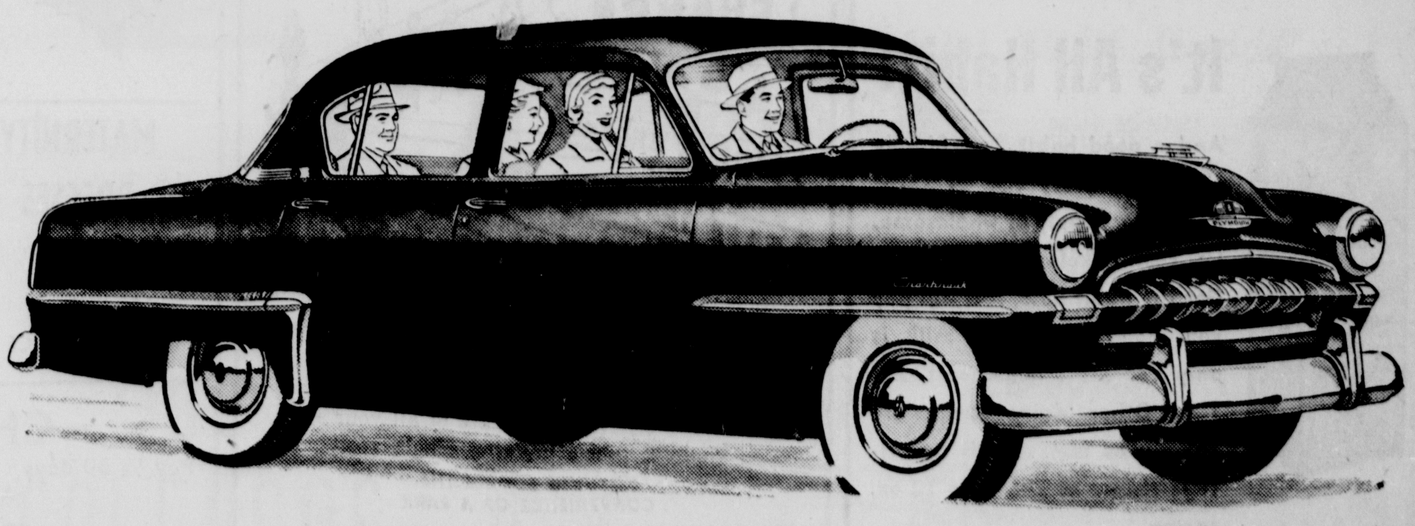

Stay where you stop with HY-DRIVE. On an upgrade like this HY-DRIVE lets you keep your hands on the wheel, your foot on the accelerator. There's no need to use the parking brake—just speed up your engine a trifle to offset the backward pull of the slope.

Feel fresh, all day long, with HY-DRIVE! It takes so little effort to drive with HY-DRIVE. There's no "traffic fatigue" from continually working up and down through conventional gears. You drive with new ease, new sureness, and HY-DRIVE saves your energy!

HY-DRIVE gives you better control. Because HY-DRIVE applies power to the rear wheels smoothly, you get better traction on icy, wet or slippery streets. For rocking out of deep mud or snow, your low and second gears are there, with the normal clutch control.

Plymouth's new HY-DRIVE is an advanced torque converter development; a simple, self-contained unit that never needs adjustment, special care, or expensive upkeep. Your nearby Plymouth dealer invites you to drive a new Plymouth equipped with new HY-DRIVE—to see for yourself how much HY-DRIVE smoothness and ease will add to your driving pleasure. The Men of Song, famous male quartet, will conclude the Community Concert Association series here Monday night, April 13. The concert will be presented at 8:15 p. m., at the William Oliver Memorial Auditorium in the Junior High School.

This accomplished quartet, very popular wherever they have appeared, are veterans of several years' experience on the concert stage, have had numerous appearances on radio and television programs, and have many records to their credit. Each member is a fine musician, with a well rounded background of the finest musical education. Just recently they were named one of the ten best musical attractions in America by the National Society of Music.

Of the two tenors, John Campbell is a graduate of the Juilliard School, and has appeared extensively in oratorio, operetta, recitals, radio and television. He has sung with many of the best known Opera companies in the country.

He was formerly soloist with the famed Little Church Around the Corner and later sang with the Lynn Murray Singers, and has been heard on such programs as the "Texaco Star Theatre," "Harvest of the Stars" and "Carnegie Hall." He holds a musical degree from Columbia University and was a fellowship student at the Julliard Graduate School.

Edmond Karlsrud, bass, still in his early twenties, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and the Julliard School, and has appeared with the choruses and orchestras of both schools. Outstanding among his orchestral engagements was as soloist with the Erie Philharmonic under Fritz Mahler in Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. He has also appeared many times on radio and television, and has many Columbia, Voce and Dana recordings to his credit.

Charles Touchette has been arranger and choral director for all the major recording companies as well as for the National Broadcasting Company, Columbia Broadcasting Company and Mutual Broadcasting System.

Keep Head Up For Proud Look

By ALICIA HART

Do you have a woebegone walk or do you seem to face up to life?

A shuffling, spiritless walk, with your head drooping and your knees like water, can make worthless the time and money you've invested in clothes because the figure you bought them for isn't there any more. All your best beauty points are wasted when you don't move gracefully.

To get yourself into line, concentrate on your rib cage. Stand with feet together and take several deep, slow breaths, until you feel your waistline pulled up out of your stomach.

Then walk off with feet pointed straight ahead, moving your legs from the hips, and your chin at a right angle to your body. Pick up your foot very definitely before you set it down again to avoid any tendency to drag. Let your feet strike the ground very lightly, heels first.

As you walk, feel your head is touching the sky or that you are displaying a badge of honor on your chest or balancing a pail of water on your head. Any trick of this kind when borne in mind will do wonders to help you walk beautifully.

Band Members Will Wear New Uniforms At Spring Concert

Members of the Powers-Spalding High School Band will appear in their new uniforms for the first time at the annual spring concert which will be presented April 22.

Busy R[illegible] Funds

Through donations, P. T. A. American Legion and Lions Club gifts, baked sales and dinners, funds have been raised for the down payment on the uniforms. Canisters have been placed in public places. In addition to these projects, the band is developing and pushing a unique method of providing the townspeople with a community birthday calendar and at the same time putting forth a drive to raise more funds to complete payment on the uniforms.

The calendar will list birthdates of residents of the community on the corresponding day and month as well as dates of club meetings, church and community events.

John Todd, the band director states that this will be a practical calendar which will be referred to many times daily by the family in the home, the office employes, the school group and by all in places of business.

The calendar is basically like any you see now. It gives the dates of the full moon, new moons, quarter moon and last quarter. Sundays and holidays are shown in solid red figures. All holidays and special observances are shown and named. The birthdates of presidents and other important personages are given.

Will List Names

It is possible to list the names of everyone in the community on the calendar on their birthday. The band will begin soon to take listings for the calendar. This goodwill builder will be available to local people Sept. 1, and will run throughout August 30, 1954.

The top of the calendar will feature a picture of the Powers-Spalding High School Band. The calendar will serve as a reminder to buy that birthday card so Aunt Hettie won't be forgotten, and Dad can no longer say, "Oh, I forgot about the P.T.A."

New Finishes Are Resistant To Stains, Burns

Dinette sets (above) are equally in good taste in living room, dining room, or game room. Basic structure is metal tubing in black, bronze or golden sand tones. Surfaces, in stain-, heat-, warp-, and scratch-resistant plastic, come in choice of eight colors and two patterns. Foam-rubber padded upholstery comes in choice of 18 colors and four patterns. Buffet and separate china-cabinet unit are in honey-color wood with a sliding door in the same tough, hard plastic featured in surfaces. Service cart, part of set, is very useful when entertaining.

By ANNETTE JEWETT
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—"Come out of the kitchen" can apply to the furniture as well as to the housewife when speaking of dining sets you can now have in decorator colors and patterns. But they retain the practical qualities Americans have become accustomed to in this type of metal- and - plastic furniture, once confined to breakfast nooks.

This kind of unbreakable, marproof furniture is very much wanted in lived-in homes where children make crayon marks, dogs and cats jump around, teen-agers put their feet up, and friends and neighbors make traffic in the house nearly every day.

In other words, in the kind of home where people are more important than furniture and yet in which the housewife and her husband want good design and tasteful color coordination.

Metal tubing in black, bronze or golden sand tones is the basic structure of the tables, chairs and service cars in this group. The hard plastic surfaces resist stains, scratches, heat and warping.

You can have the table in a round or a curved-oblong style, and the chairs are barrel-backed or provincial-type straight. They look, in general, as if their styling were influenced by New England Colonial furniture, modified by the sleek ideas of the modern designers.

Chair seats are foam - rubber padded and upholstered in washable plastic. Backs of chairs are plastic slip-covered in the straight type or wired in the barrel type.

The color on the tubing won't chip, crack or peel, say the makers as it is bonded to the structure by a unique process. No less than eight colors in two abstract patterns are available for the surfaces, and 18 colors in four abstract patterns for the chair fabrics.

You can see that this wide color and pattern choice as well as the design makes the furniture desirable for living rooms, dining rooms and game rooms.

There's a buffet and separate, open-type china cabinet with short legs for standing it on the buffet in a raised position, which allows full use of the buffet surface. These pieces are in natural honey-color wood but the sliding doors of the buffet and the rear wall of the cabinet are in the very practical plastic. The cabinet features two shelves with grooves for standing the china and the buffet has a silver drawer.

Blast Details Received Here

Details of a chemical plant explosion in Kingsport, Tenn., which claimed the lives of two men and seriously injured William Prine, 25, former Manistique man, are given in a copy of the Knoxville News-Sentinel received here yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Prine, of Ashville, N. C., parents of the injured man.

The blast, which at first was thought to have occurred either late Saturday or early Sunday, took place Friday at the Tennesee Eastman Corp., Kingsport, where a chemical container exploded. Four other men besides Prine were injured in the explosion. Prine was a mechanic at the plant.

The injured former local resident was reported by his parents yesterday to be resting comfortably after the amputation of both legs.

The Knoxville paper reported on the blast as follows:

"Company officials said cause of the blast, confined to one room in a research laboratory building, still was undetermined.

"The blast rocked the city about 4:30 p. m. (EST), and City Police Sgt. Robert Chaney said it 'sounded like they were setting off some dynamite.' He said Fire Chief C. M. Kenner went to the plant and was told 'they were using some powerful stuff in there and it went off.'

"Kenner, like other city fire and law officers, was refused admittance to the plant, which Chaney said has its own security system and requires passes for entry. A subsidiary of Eastman Kodak Co., the firm is engaged in manufacture and research in chemicals, plastics, synthetics and the like. It does much secret research toward developing new products.

" 'The explosion apparently did little damage to the building,' Chaney said. 'Somebody just got their solutions mixed, and it went straight up.'

"It was the second explosion at the plant in the last couple months."

A regular meeting of the Junior-Senior High School PTA scheduled for Thursday evening has been postponed to 8 p. m., Tuesday, April 14, it was annuonced yesterday by Rodger Smith, president.

HINT TO MOTORISTS

Most motorists use friction tape when repairing a leaky radiator hose, but heat and water soon dissolve the adhesive if tape alone is used. A better plan is to wrap a long strip of rubber cut from an old inner tube, around the hose and apply a layer of tape to hold it securely in place.

"INSIDE" OUTSIDE—Latest in home construction is this one at Caracas, Venezuela. The unique home has an outdoor basement. Its owner claims that by raising the home above the ground he has a "completely shaded living living room" all year round. And he also gets a four-way circulation of air on hot summer nights.

Board To Have New Members

At least three new members will sit on the Schoolcraft County Board of Supervisors when it holds its spring meeting this month, results of the biennial spring election Monday reveal.

Possibility of a fourth new member joining the board was seen yesterday with the announcement that Herbert Burns, defeated slips candidate in Manistique township, would file for a recount.

Burns lost to Incumbent William Rodman by 40 votes in a blistering contest but 44 of his votes were discarded by the township election board because crosses on the Burns slips, it was contended, were illegally made outside the voting booth.

Edward Hokenson, chairman of the election board, said yesterday that crosses on the slips affixed to the 44 discarded ballots were made in a uniform manner with a pencil or pen differing in color from the blue pencil normally provided in the election booth.

The election board, he said, believed that the crosses were made on the slips before they were handed to voters outside the voting place. Law requires, he pointed out, that the voter make the crosses in the voting booth.

Three new supervisors assured places on the county board are Lyle Lake, slips candidate, who defeated nominee Agner Dehlin in Hiawatha township; Arnold Hyvonen, Labor party candidate, who defeated Clyde Tobin, of the Progressive Party, in Seney; and Ernest Hoholik, who won without opposition in Thompson. Hoholik had defeated Floyd Sample, incumbent, for the nomination at the primary election in February.

Other members of the board are: City of Manistique—Mayor Vern C. Linderoth, Councilmen George Stephens, Walter Burns and A. W. Heitman, and City Assessor William G. Stephens.

Townships— Germfask, Allan Macaulay; Mueller, Wells Bowers; Doyle, William W. Davidson; Inwood, William Popour.

Burglar Believed He Had Plenty Of Time

DALLAS (AP)—When detectives saw a man setting a door glass into a molding at 1 a. m. at a cafe and found the cash drawer out on a table they naturally became suspicious and called the owner.

The owner hurried over, claimed the cash in the drawer and said she didn't know the man in the white apron who by this time had the glass back in the front door. Under questioning he admitted he had removed the door glass and was about to leave with the money. He said he wore the apron to divert suspicion.

Asked why he stayed around to replace the door glass instead of fleeing when the detectives came, he said, "I thought I had plenty of time."

ORDINANCE NO. 255

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORDINANCE NO. 65 ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE AND RESTRICT THE LOCATION OF TRADES AND INDUSTRIES AND THE LOCATION OF BUILDINGS DESIGNED FOR SPECIFIC USES, ETC."

CHAPTER I.
Section Amended

Section XI of Ordinance No. 65, entitled "Yards, Height and Area Provisions" is hereby amended to read as set forth under Chapter II of this ordinance.

CHAPTER II.
Amendment

(A) FRONT YARDS—In all residence districts there shall be in every lot a front yard, the minimum depth of which shall be:

In a residence "A" district—Twenty-five feet or thirty-five per cent of the depth of the lot (whichever is the least restrictive).

In residence "B" district—Twenty-five per cent of the depth of the lot or twenty feet (whichever is the least restrictive).

But not less than fifteen feet in either case.

In a residence "C" district—Ten feet.

Where, at the time of the passage of this ordinance, more than fifty per cent of the lots on one side of a street between two intersecting streets within any residence district are occupied by dwellings having a front yard greater or less depth than the required front yard, any dwelling thereafter erected on any such lots shall have a front yard not less in depth than the average front yard of such existing dwellings; but this shall not require a greater depth than:

Fifty feet if in a residence "A" district;

Thirty-five feet in a residence "B" district, or,

Twenty feet if in a residence "C" district.

Nor permit a less depth than:

Fifteen feet if in a residence "A" or "B" district;

Ten feet if in a residence "C" district.

In those cases where property zoned for other than residential use is located on the same side of a street as residential property and both are between the same two consecutive intersecting streets, the following rule shall apply: No building, premises, nor part thereof, shall be used, altered, constructed, or reconstructed except in conformity with the front yard requirements of the residential district involved. Provided, however, that relief from this requirement may be obtained in certain cases as prescribed under paragraph three (3) of Section XIII, Ordinance No. 65.

CHAPTER III.
Saving Clause

If any section, subsection, subdivision, sentence, regulation, clause or phrase of this ordinance is, for any reason, held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining sections, subdivisions, sentences, regulations, clauses and phrases of this ordinance or the ordinance as an entirety.

CHAPTER IV.
Effective Date

This ordinance shall be in full force and effect ten days after its passage and publication.

GEORGE M. HARVEY,
City Clerk.

Approved:
ROBERT E. LEMIRE,
Mayor.

After a public hearing on the aforementioned ordinance the City Council unanimously adopted said ordinance at a regular meeting held on April 2, 1953.
GEORGE M. HARVEY,
City Clerk.

April 16, 1953, in the office of the City Clerk at Escanaba, Michigan, for the purchase and installation of 450 parking meters, more or less. Bids will be publicly opened and read at the regular meeting of the City Council on the above date.

No specifications will be published other than the following instructions to the bidders.

The parking meters shall be of the automatic or manual type, and either single or twin head, with sealed or locked money boxes.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank in the amount of $1,000.00 to guarantee that if the bid is accepted a contract will be entered into and its performance properly secured. Should any bid be rejected such check will be forthwith returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted such check will be returned upon the proper execution and securing of the contract.

No bids will be received on obsolete or discontinued models.

The bids shall be quoted on a trial basis for a period of twelve months with option to purchase at the end of the trial period. The bidders must look to the receipts of the meters for payment, and all money paid during the trial period must apply on the purchase price which the bidder shall quote in his bid.

Each bidder also shall state what accessories, if any, he will furnish with his bid, such as coin tube, carrying cases, parts, etc.

Awarding of bids will depend on the final passage of a parking meter ordinance.

The successful bidder will have to furnish a Performance Bond in an amount equal to the total amount of the bid.

Envelope containing bid to be plainly marked "Parking Meter Bid to be opened 8 P. M., April 16, 1953".

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

With the bowling gentry active on all fronts right now, it might be of interest to recall the world's record team score posted by the Hermann Undertakers of St. Louis on Jan. 27, 1937. The Hermanns had single games of 1,261, 1,211 and 1,325. The big match included a fantastic 792 series by Ray Holmes, No. 2 roller, who put together games of 256, 236 and 300. Leadoff kegler Buzz Wilson actually was low with 709 on 246, 217 and 246. Fred Taff hit 766 on 277, 246 and 243. Bob Wills had a 771 on 235, 290 and 246, while anchorman Sam Farofalo posted 759 on 247, 222 and 290. Not bad, eh.

* * * * *

A recent rap at the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association by a Marquette Mining Journal scribe left a bad taste in the mouths of most members. Bob Biolo penned a bitter "Sports Message" column that isn't even worthy of an answer. Other members of the Association we talked to agreed it was in extremely poor taste.

* * * * *

One thing we meant to mention about our recent trip downstate to cover the basketball tournaments. Facilities at the tournament sites for press and radio workers opened our eyes. Spacious and well placed for the most part. The direct opposite of many of the high school gyms in the Upper Peninsula where the press is squashed into a crowded seat with little or no writing space. Press facilities at the big Negaunee Memorial gym were terrible this year. Most of the writers were perched three or four rows up among the spectators and had to contend with flying elbows, stamping feet and dripping ice cream bars.

* * * * *

A correction on a recent column item. The Upper Peninsula Senior Men's golf tournament will be held here in Escanaba and not in Menominee this summer as previously reported. The Highland Golf Club will be host to the so-called Old Timers tournament. The U. P. Women's tourney will be held here too, and the Men's tournament is slated for Marquette.

Dodgers Take A Look At Marciano's Kid Brother

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It probably wouldn't be precisely correct to say that Rocky Marciano is doubling as a fist-fighter and big-league baseball scout.

At least, he's not on the payroll of any club.

But the one-time catcher is directly responsible for the unearthing of one candidate who popped up in the Dodgers' training camp at Vero Beach, Fla., this spring—his brother, Lou.

"That's right," testifies Irving Rudd, the Brooklyn dream-up, steam-up operative. "A couple of us from the Dodger organization were up at Grossinger's N. Y., watching Rocky warm up for the Walcott fight. And he said:

" 'I've got a terrific prospect for you. Sure would like to see him get a trial.'

" 'Who is he?' I asked.

" 'My brother,' he said.

"I said I'd see what could be done, and when I got back to the office I passed the word along. We checked our files and darned if we didn't have a card on the kid. It read:

" 'Louis Marchegiano, 19, high school graduate. Aptitude, average. Arm, strong. Fair hitter. Good speed. Comment: What this boy lacks in ability he makes up in aggressiveness and hustle. His brother is Rocky Marciano.' "

* * *

Despite the skimpiest of baseball backgrounds, youthful Lou was flown to Vero Beach in the Dodgers' special plane. The brass paid extra attention to him, watched him play the infield, bat against major league hurling, run the bases.

Fresco Thompson, who directs minor league operations, observed: "He can throw, has speed, but his hitting is questionable. We're going to keep an eye on him."

John Carey, the National League champions' eastern private eye, added: "His arm is the best thing about him — like his brother Rocky. He could develop."

Louis Joseph Marchegiano is a muscular lad, heavy-chested, with hams of hands. He's built like a fire hydrant at five-foot-eight and 175 pounds. Dark-haired, his flashing eyes glisten when you mention Rocky.

* * *

Lou is a carbon-copy of the Brockton Block Buster, infinitely rugged yet friendly. He was a fullback on the Brockton, Mass., High School team, also laces on the big gloves frequently.

The Rock thinks Lou, now attending Thayer Acedemy, a prep school at Braintree, Mass., should seriously consider the ring.

Lou has his heart set on professional baseball, will continue playing semi-pro ball around home until he finishes prep school.

"I like to box," admitted Lou, "but you can't beat baseball. Sometimes I spar with Rocky. Do you recall the trouble he had in Maine when he was suspended for fighting an exhibition with his brother?

"That was me."

Challenger Confident Of Beating Bassett In Featherweight Go

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dave Gallardo, who takes on "interim" featherweight champion Percy Bassett in a 10-round bout tonight, says he'll win "if Bassett is willing to fight."

"If he runs from me," continued Gallardo, "I'll still win."

Gallardo, 23-year-old Mexican from Los Angeles, has been undefeated since 1951 and has a string of 11 wins last year.

Bassett, the favorite, won his interim title by a technical knockout over Ray Famechon in Paris last February. The hard punching Negro has scored 36 knockouts in 62 professional bouts.

The fight, beginning at 9 p. m. CST, will be televised nationally CBS.

The 126-pound champion, Sandy Saddler, is in the Army.

Coach Of Year St. Germain To Be Honored At Banquet

The Upper Peninsula's No. 1 high school basketball coach, Tom St. Germain of the St. Joseph Trojans, will be honored at a Gladstone Lions Club recognition banquet Thursday evening at 7 at the Gladstone Yacht Club.

The Gladstone Lions annually fete the GHS varsity, reserves and cheerleaders following the close of the prep cage season. Members of the school board will also be guests.

It will mark the fourth year that the Lions have honored the Upper Peninsula's "coach of the year." The selection is made by the Upper Peninsula Sports Writers Association at its annual spring meeting.

TOM ST. GERMAIN

Watson To Give Trophy

Presenting the top coaching trophy to the St. Joe mentor will be Clairmont C. Watson, Ishpeming's renowned basketball coach who was honored by the Lions Club last year. St. Germain will be presented with a large travelling trophy for display in the St. Joe trophy case and a smaller individual trophy for permanent possession.

Eldon R. Keil, Gladstone mentor, was the first "coach of the year" honored by the Lions Club in 1950. In 1951 Karl Parker, coach of the Brimley Bays, received the recognition.

St. Germain piloted the Trojans to a pair of Upper Peninsula championships the past season. His team copped the U. P. Parochial School tournament in mid-season and then went on to capture the U. P. Class C crown.

Best U. P. Showing

The Trojans had the distinction of making the best showing of all U. P. teams in state tournament competition. St. Joe survived its quarterfinal test downstate but lost to Muskegon St. Mary in the semifinal game played at Boys Vocational School in East Lansing. St. Joe staged a furious fourth quarter rally in that game but fell short, 58-51.

St. Joe finished season and tournament play with a record of 18 victories against only four losses. The U. P. Class C championship climaxed a three-year bid for top honors as the Trojans had previously lost in championship games in 1951 and 1952.

St. Germain has piloted St. Joe sports teams since the 1949 season. His basketball coaching record is one of the best in the Upper Peninsula with 80 victories posted against 20 defeats in the past five seasons. He also coaches football, baseball and track at St. Joe.

Northern Graduate

The Trojan cage mentor was an outstanding athlete at Baraga High School. He earned athletic letters at Baldwin-Wallace in Ohio and Northern Michigan College of Education at Marquette. He began coaching at St. Joe immediately after graduation from Northern. St. Germain is a veteran of War II.

Several members of the 1953 all-class, all-U. P. cage quint will also be guests at the banquet. Expected are John Martinac of St. Joe, Bob Sharland of Ishpeming and Fred Boddy of the Escanaba Eskymos.

Coach Keil will award 1953 cage letters to members of the Gladstone varsity and reserve team. Coach Pfotenhauer will introduce members of the Gladstone Jayvee team.

College Boxing Tournament Set

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Two 1952 champions are back this year in the National Collegiate Athletic Association boxing meet opening here Thursday. Both are entered in the 156-pound class.

Thus new champions are certain in eight of the nine weight groups.

Returning champions are Bob Morgan of the University of Wisconsin, which won last year's team title, and Ellsworth (Spider) Webb, the dusky Idaho State College fighter who represented the United States in the 156-pound class in the Olympics.

Morgan won last year at 147 pounds but has moved up a notch.

Wisconsin's seven-man team is the largest entered. The Badgers lack representation in only two weight classes—119 and 125 pounds, the two lightest.

Other schools entered include University of Minnesota and Michigan State College, each with five boxers.

Record Purses In State Golf

DETROIT (AP) —About $15,000, including record purses in the three top events, will be dished out in Michigan pro golf tournaments this summer.

Heading the list is the Michigan Open, which will have a $5,000 jackpot at the Hillcrest Country Club at Mt. Clemens Aug. 21-23. This is $1,400 above last year's record figure at Orchard Lake's Indianwood course.

The Michigan PGA July 19 at Lakepointe and the Michigan pro-amateur at Battle Creek Country Club July 26 both will have $1,500 purses.

These and other purses were announced at the annual Michigan PGA meeting here yesterday.

The Michigan open will be unique in two respects this year. For the first time it is being held at a semi-private course. And for the first time all except the pros and top amateurs will have to qualify. The qualifying was forced by the unwieldy entry lists in recent years.

"A $5,000 purse for the state open always has been our goal," said Tommy Shannon, president of the Michigan PGA. "But up until this year it was only a dream."

Both W. W. Woody, owner of Hillcrest, and Lou Palmer, owner of Lakepointe, promised improvements in their courses for the big tournaments.

Tri County League Will Meet Tonight

Final reorganizational meeting of the Tri County baseball league will be held at Perry's in Spalding at 7:30 (CST) when plans for an eight-team circuit are expected to be drafted.

Two members of the league which operated on a 10-team basis last season have indicated they would not re-enter this year Stephenson has joined a different circuit and Wilson is not reorganizing.

Wallace has also dropped its entry in the circuit but there are still eight possible teams as Powers has re-entered after a year's absence. In addition to Powers, likely Tri County entries this season include Hermansville, Foster City, Perronville, Felch, Daggett, Wallace and Escanaba.

The Escanaba Bears, defending Tri County League champions, have not yet reorganized but a representative is expected to attend the meeting tonight.

The Tri County will set the opening date of the season and make plans to draw up a schedule at the meeting tonight. Officers will also be elected for the 1953 season.

High School Freshman Is State Amateur Mitt Champ

DETROIT (AP)—Petey Armstrong, a 16-year-old Saginaw High School freshman, last night scored the biggest upset in the finals of the State AAU Boxing Championships at the University of Detroit Memorial Building.

Armstrong, fighting before a slim crowd of 1,000, defeated Detroit's veteran LeRoy Jeffrery for the AAU state bantamweight title.

The fight was Armstrong's eighth bout as opposed to Jeffrery's 37 bouts along the amateur fight trail. The defeat was the third in his career for Jeffrery, a member of the Michigan State College boxing team.

In another upset, Willie McClendon of Detroit decisioned Johnny Riggens, also of Detroit, for the light heavyweight title.

Favorites came through in the opener eight title bouts. Willie Joe DeMeyer, of Detroit, defeated Eugene Foster of Saginaw in the 112 pound class; Bob Lepper of Detroit, defeated Eddie O'Neal of Detroit, in the 125 pound division; Ted Wright, of Detroit, defeated J. D. Edwards, of Benton Harbor in the 132 pound class; Mickey Crawford, of Flint, defeated Tom Davis, of Grand Rapids, in the 139 pound class; James Williams of Detroit defeated Ray Edwards of Flint, for the 147 pound title; Nate Ellison, of Detroit, defeated Bill Gillespie, of Grand Rapids, in the 156 pound class; William Greene, of Detroit, defeated Jay Latham, of Flint, for the 160 pound title; and Lou Graff of Detroit defeated George Huffman, of Grand Rapids, for the heavyweight title.

The defeat was the Hornets' second in three starts on their southern tour.

Gil Turner Loses In Welterweight Upset

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Welterweight Joey Giardello, a 3-1 underdog, exploded into action in the final rounds last night to beat Gil Turner by a decision.

Turner had won 35 and lost only two prior to last night's setto before 7,377 at the Arena. He was fighting Joey as a warmup for future business with Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan.

It looked like the odds makers were right for the first six rounds. Turner appeared to have conceded seven pounds in weight and Giardello seemed to have conceded class. Gil danced around the slow, plodding Giardello, trading six punches for one. Joey didn't seem to mind. In fact there was some doubt he wanted to keep on going.

Then came the seventh round and Joey lashed out suddenly with a right hand. Turner ran right into it and almost knocked himself out. From that punch on, Giardello felt like fighting and Turner looked like he wanted to go home. The crowd that paid $40,642 were loving it.

Giardello staggered Gil with right hands that could be seen in the 10th row. He won the last four rounds.

Referee Charley Daggert scored it 7-3; Judge Lou Tress, 7-2-1, and Judge Zach Clayton, 5-3-2. The (AP) had it five rounds for each man.

Carmen Grazaino and Tony Ferrante, managers of Giardello, said they weren't interested in a Turner rematch. They said they want either Billy Graham or Paddy Young.

Spring Grid Drills Under Way At Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—The University of Detroit got the jump on other state schools by opening spring football practice yesterday.

Michigan State, Michigan and Wayne all start their off - season drills next Monday.

Eighty hopefuls turned out in good football weather for the Titan workout. After it was over head coach Earl (Dutch) Clark said "things don't look bad."

Clark's biggest job will be to find a replacement for quarterback Ted Marchiboda, one of the nation's top passers last season.

Clark said the outlawing of the two-platoon system will help his squad.

Milwaukee Takes Braves With Huge Celebration

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee became the home of the Braves today with a rip-snorting celebration.

The welcoming ceremonies started in mid-morning and were to continue into the night as thousands of Milwaukeeans looked over their big league baseball team for the first time.

A red carpet stretched across the union station trainshed when manager Charley Grimm and his squad arrived at 10:05 a. m. Outside the depot automobiles awaited the players for a parade the length of Wisconsin Avenue, the city's main downtown thoroughfare.

Grimm is no stranger to Milwaukee fans. Neither are many of his players, who performed under him last season with the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association.

In mid-Summer last year Grimm was called up by the parent Braves from his job as Brewer manager. Three weeks ago, Lou Perini's National League franchise was moved here from Boston and the Brewers went to Toledo, O.

This afternoon the Braves have a short workout scheduled on the new $5,000,000 county stadium which will be their home. Tonight an official city welcome — speeches by Gov. Walter Kohler, Mayor Frank Ziedler and other dignitaries—is expected to draw upwards of 15,000 to the downtown arena.

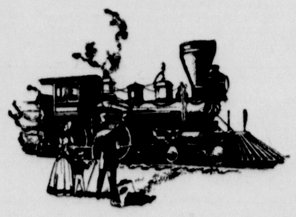

The new stadium, a double-decked concrete horseshoe seating 36,011, is sold out for the league opener next Tuesday with the St. Louis Cardinals, plus 7,000 bleacher seats. Near-capacity crowds are expected, too, for the two-game exhibition series with the Boston Red Sox Thursday and Friday.

Mysterious Skin Ailment Seems Cleared Up

Mantle Returns To Yanks

By BEN PHLEGAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Mickey Mantle's back with the New York Yankees and already things are looking a whole lot brighter for the world champions.

The picture never was entirely gloomy but the word from the Yankee traveling party is that Manager Casey Stengel wasn't able to manage a full smile at any time while the young sensation was absent.

Mantle has had a skin rash. For two weeks he suffered, not only physically but from countless jokes from his teammates and opponents. The best of the jokes was credited to an anonymous member of the St. Louis Cardinals who asked the switch hitter:

"Which hand do you scratch with?"

Home In Oklahoma

Stengel finally sent Mantle back to his Commerce, Okla., home to visit his wife, who is expecting a baby. A few days in the Oklahoma sun apparently did the trick because Mickey had only a couple of red splotches on his legs when he rejoined the club in Nashville yesterday.

Mantle was put right to work. He started a game for the first time since mid-March and played a faultless seven innings. He went hitless his first three times but in the seventh with two on base he poled a 420-foot double.

Two other things made Stengel happy. He apparently had found another starting pitcher in Jim McDonald, who went all the way in yesterday's 9-1 victory over Nashville, and Hank Bauer, back in the outfield after resting his lame back, picked up his tremendous spring hitting immediately. Bauer slammed a home run and a double in three trips to the plate. McDonald now has gone the route twice and has yielded only five earned runs in 40 innings. No other Yankee pitcher has worked a full nine.

Hurl Three-Hitter

The best combined pitching yesterday came at Mobile, Ala., where the Cleveland Indians broke a four-game losing streak by edging the New York Giants, 1-0. Early Wynn and Steve Gromek held the heavy-hitting Giants to a measly three safeties while Dave Koslo and Max Lanier doled out only five in the Giant cause. A dropped fly ball by New York outfielder Dusty Rhodes allowed the only run to score.

In another game where the pitchers were stingy, the Louisville Colonels of the American Association whipped the Milwaukee Braves, 3-2, on three hits. Bob Buhl, Brave rookie who has been one of the biggest finds of the spring, went six innings and was the loser.

The Philadelphia Phillies paraded their long-ball hitters against the Boston Red Sox at Roanoke, Va., and came up with a 15-2 decision. Connie Ryan homered twice for the Phils and Earl Torgeson and Willie Jones contributed one apiece in the home run department.

Homer Is Difference

A home run by Minnie Minoso made the difference as the Chicago White Sox clipped the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3 at Chattanooga.

Steve Bilko of the St. Louis Cardinals unloaded his longest home run of the spring as the Cards whipped Dallas of the Texas League, 6-4.

The Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association pounced on veteran Johnny Lindell for four runs in the first and went on to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-5, in a free-swinging exhibition.

Billy Hoeft Gets Starting Hill Nod

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Billy Hoeft, the bashful, skinny southpaw, takes the mound for the Detroit Tigers here today in their first of a series of five straight exhibition games against the Cincinnati Reds.

And a standout performance might make him a favorite for the starting role in the Tigers' American League opener next Tuesday night at St. Louis.

Hoeft has had a sore arm and has seen little action in spring training.

Other more seasoned members of the Detroit mound staff have had thorough tryouts, however, and none has been particularly impressive.

Vets Hard Hit

Hal Newhouser and Ned Garver have given up a combined total of 73 hits in 50 innings to date. Lefty Bill Wight has been hit hard after a few innings his last few times out.

Other potential starters against St. Louis include Art Houtteman and Ted Gray. But Houtteman, like Hoeft, has had a sore arm most of the time and Gray still hasn't pitched since undergoing a tonsilectomy.

Manager Fred Hutchinson confirmed as the Tigers moved into Charleston that he still hasn't made the opening night pitching assignment.

"These games with the Reds in the next five days ought to tell us a lot," said Hutch.

He said he still is hoping for some good pitching to go along with the Tigers' unexpectedly good hitting.

Kuenn Back In Action

Harvey Kuenn, the $55,000 bonus shortstop from the University of Wisconsin, was slated to start today for the first time since he sprained an ankle March 12. Kuenn tested the ankle for four innings Sunday and it appeared okay.

The Tigers and Reds move on to Columbus, O., tomorrow for the second game of the series. Then they will play at Cincinnati, Richmond, Ind., and back at Cincinnati again before the Tigers move on to St. Louis.

The Tigers meanwhile announced the purchase of third baseman George Freese from the St. Louis Browns. Freese, who hit .313 for Mobile last season, has worked out with the Browns this spring. But Manager Marty Marion had not counted on him for regular duty. Freese is expected to join the Tigers at St. Louis.

Chicago White Sox Are Wild On Bases

CHATTANOOGA, enn. (AP)— The Chicago White Sox are running wild on the bases again.

Outfielders Minnie Minoso and Jim Rivera have stolen seven and 12 respectively, of a total 35 picked up in 33 exhibition games this spring.

Soo Indians In First Win

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Sault Ste. Marie Indians, spurred by their first victory, will try to even the count with Cincinnati to night in the Senior U. S. Amateur Hockey semi-final playoffs.

A late third period goal by Ron Rubic gave the Indians a 3 to 2 win over the Mohawks here last night to narrow the latter's lead in the best-of-seven series, two games to one.

Sault Ste. Marie finished fourth in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association and Cincinnati is the International Hockey League titlist. The winner will meet the Eastern Hockey League champion for the U. S. Amateur title.

Rubic fired in a 10-foot back hander with a minute and 44 seconds to go to provide the Indians their victory margin. Up until then goals by the Indians' Dean McBride and Laurie Peterson had been offset by scores by the Mohawks Russ Kowalcuk and Del Topoll.

A crowd of 2,600 saw the game. All remaining games in the semi-final series will be played here.

In his second season as head coach of the University of Florida swimmers this year, Jack Ryan piloted his tankmen to the Southeastern Conference championship.

Jim Greengrass, rookie outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds, made an auspicious National League debut last September by blasting a grand slam homer to beat the Dodgers.

King-Size Pill Is A-Bomb Cure

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

CHICAGO (AP)—A big fat pill costing about $4 probably would save you from radiation sickness or death from an A-bomb, scientists report.

You'd have to take it, though, just before the bomb went off.

The king-size pill looks like the best practical bet so far to guard against radiation, the new element in A-bombs as compared with ordinary bombs.

The prospect was described Tuesday by scientists, speaking in a news conference or presenting reports to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental biology.

The pill would weigh almost two ounces, for a 150-pound person. It would be smaller for someone smaller, still bigger for a fatty.

It would be made of cysteine, one of the amino acids or building blocks of proteins such as muscle, fat, nerves and other tissues.

Given to animals an hour or two before they're exposed to lethal X-rays, cysteine saves most of them. It apparently would do the same for humans.

Chestnut Trees May Make A Comeback

CROCKETT, Tex. (AP)—Chestnut trees, once the best saw timber in the nation, may make a comeback. Chestnut trees have been virtually extinct in the United States since a blight 30 years ago killed off many Chestnut forests. The trees produce a good hardwood.

An experimental planting of blight-resistant Chinese Chestnut trees will be made in Davy Crockett National Forest. Forest Ranger Orrie W. Hanson says this will be the first Chestnut planting in Texas and, he believes, the first in the United States since the blight.

A "SHORT" RIDE—Stopping over in New York enroute from London to Atlanta, Ga., "Shorty," the worlds smallest full-grown horse, gives airline passenger service representative Pat Powell a "short" ride. The 59-pound, 30-inch long horse is to be on exhibition at a children's playground in Atlanta.
